Fowler Says Tax Surcharge A Must

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler offered Congress a stark choice today: Reject President Johnson's tax increase and open the way for a possible $29-billion deficit, or enact it and still face the prospect of $14 billion to $18 billion red-ink spending.

Those, Fowler, told the House Ways and Means Committee, are the hard facts of the nation's fiscal situation.

He said that with economies the government plans to make, and with the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, which he called "a moderate, temporary, emergency increase," the Treasury can hold its borrowing down to a level that will not disrupt markets and shoot interest rates up. Thus, he said, widespread inflation can be avoided.

Budget Director Charles L. Schultze backed Fowler's estimate of the deficit and said "we are determined to cut more than $1.5 billion" in spending.

Fowler said the spending estimate submitted in January for the year that began July 1 may now be exceeded by as much as $8.5 billion, including $4 billion for defense, and that revenues may be as much as $7 billion less than had been anticipated.

Fowler sought to show that the proposed tax increase is less heavy than those enacted under comparable circumstances in the past. He said that during World War II personal income taxes were raised by the equivalent of 730 per cent and the taxes associated with the Korean War were equivalent to about a 28 per cent surcharge.

In contrast, he said, a married couple with two children and a $10,000 salary typically would pay about $111 more under the pending surtax proposal, or not much more than one per cent of total income.

Johnson, in a series of sessions with House Democrats, has laid out the main lines of the administration argument—a deficit possibly approaching $30 billion would mean inflation, higher interest rates, scarce money for the small business and individual borrower, and, quite likely, disaster for the homebuilding industry.

The opposing argument is that the economy is not so strong but that a burden of the magnitude of the proposed tax increase might depress it— and actually reduce instead of increasing the government's revenues.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee expressed a widespread congressional feeling when he said, "I am absolutely uncommitted."

Mills added yesterday the proposal "certainly faces a very difficult uphill battle" and he sees no congressional or taxpayer enthusiasm for any tax increase.

Vietnam Dove Holds Border Raids Stupid

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. bombing within 10 miles of Red China detonated sharp new criticism of the Vietnam war by a persistent critic of administration war policy and appeared likely to generate more debate on Capitol Hill.

"I think it's very dangerous and extremely stupid," said Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. But Senate preparedness subcommittee chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said the broadened bombing of North Vietnam reflects a more-pressure philosophy which he supports.

The new level of bombing came on the eve of Senate debate on President Johnson's foreign aid program. Debate opening today already had been expected to bring fresh attacks on Johnson politices in Vietnam and elsewhere in the world.

Whether one variety of recent congressional criticism—that bombing was too sparing—affected Johnson's decision to add new targets could not be determined as the White House fended off questions on the shit in tactics.

But it was learned that Stennis' subcommittee heard secret testimony last week from Adm. Ulysses S. G. Sharp, Pacific commander, that Johnson had agreed to some extension of warplanes' options to strike what one subcommittee member called "lucrative targets."

Strikes yesterday against North Vietnamese rail yards 10 miles from Red China and Friday against Hanoi's Doumer bridge came after Johnson lifted temporarily two major target restrictions.

Pentagon sources say the ad-

LeMay's Newest Bombing Call

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (UPI) — Gen. Curtis E. Lemay, retired Air Force chief of staff, has been quoted as calling for the destruction of North Vietnam's entire industry.

The views were set forth in a position paper circulated today by the Citizens for LeMay Committe here, a group boosting the general as a 1968 presidential candiate. LeMay now lives in Southern California.

The paper said LeMay has called for destruction of "every factory and every industrial installation, beginning with the biggest and best and never ending so long us there are two bricks still stuck together."

Jane Darwell Is Dead At 87

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jane Darwell, whose career as an actress spanned 61 years on the stage and in films and television, is dead at 87.

The Academy Award-winning player, who frequently told friends her life and work had been wholly without hardship, succumbed Sunday at the Motion Picture Country Home.

She had suffered a light stroke last Memorial Day and a heart attack last week. Her last movie part was "the bird woman" in 'Mary Poppins," in 1963.

Tremor Levels French Village; Quakes In Spain

BORDEAUX, France (AP) — Earthquakes rocked southwestern France and northern Spain yesterday, devastating one French village and felling scattered buildings elsewhere. One death was reported.

In Arette, France, an 80-year-old woman was crushed to death when her house tumbled.

The Pyrenees Mountain village, population 1,000, was badly hit by the quick tremors, and its residents abandoned their homes to spend the night in cars or huddled around campfires.

Reports from northern Spain, particularly in the area of Santander and San Sebastian on the northern coast, said people ran into the streets in fright while furniture shifted, lights swung on their chains and small cracks ripped down plaster.

Fires Posing Forest Threat

PORTLAND (UPI) — Three fires burned out of control in Willamette National Forest today as hot weather and low humidity brought the worst fire danger of the season to Oregon.

The three blazes covered a total of about 200 acres but were potentially explosive, Forest Service personnel said.

REPTILES ONLY

Sick Turtle? Call Young Specialist

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Among amateur doctors, 12-year-old Peter Dailey probably has the most slithery roster of patients possible.

His practice, says the specialist, is limited to reptiles—but he makes house calls.

Until the other day, Peter confined his practice to his own menageriem

But a neighbor, Susie Pickett, 6, called to say Herman, her torpid tortoise, had the menagerie.

"His eyes looked bad," recalled Susie's mother, Marjorie Pickett. "They were swollen and closed. We called the vets, but they just laughed. They said they only handled dogs and cats."

On hearing there was a reptile specialist in the neighborhood, Mrs. Pickett declared: "Bring him over."

Over came Peter, within an hour.

"He was carrying this little paper bag," she recalls. "He had brought all his tools and medicines, like a doctor. He had tweezers, bottles and a little plastic squirt bottle full of water. He had a book on turtles."

After examining Herman, she said, Peter told her "the turtle hadn't been getting decent care. We told him we had been feeding Herman mostly lettuce. He said he needed strawberries and cod liver pills."

Peter squirted water into Herman's eyes to clean them, then applied a drug from one of his vials. He told the Picketts to feed Herman strawberries and keep in touch.

Peter, who owns a box turtle, a tortoise named Biggie, a bullfrog, a horned toad and a lizard, said he learned his medical lore from books at the local branch library.

But he seems to have helped Herman.

"The swelling has gone down," Mrs. Pickett reports, "and his eyes are open. Of course we've got him on strawberries."

$10,000 Diamond Ring Said Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mrs. William Lilley, 56, of New York, told police today jewelry worth $16,500—including a $10,000 diamond bracelet—was stolen from her Fairmont Hotel room over the weekend.

Mrs. Lilley, who recently returned from a trip to Hawaii, said she also lost a $2000 set of earings, a $1500 diamond ring, and a $3000 pearl necklace.

Liberal Marijuana Law Plan Rapped

Marin County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos today voiced strong opposition to any modification of existing penalties for possession of marijuana.

He gave an emphatic "No" to a suggestion by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales that a state bill be introduced to reduce the present felony charge of possessing the drug to a misdemeanor in some cases.

Mountanos said: "I strongly oppose the district attorney's proposal and am prepared to appear before our state assemblyman and senator, if such a bill is introduced, to oppose its passage.

"I am also going to ask to appear before the Marin County Grand Jury Law Enforcement Committee to present in complete detail my strong objection to such a proposal."

He said: "I believe that in order for law enforcement agencies to win the battle against marijuana and other illegal drugs, vigorous prosecution is required."

The present law had been in existance for some years, he said, and had been approved and recommended by the chiefs of police and sheriffs of California.

As proposed by Bales, the modification in the law effecting marijuana possession would result in his office having the discretion to prosecute some minor offences as misdemeanors.

This would lift the threat of mandatory state prison sentence from those people convicted a second time of possession.

Bales said that while prison was justified in cases involving drug pushers and other habitual criminals, the courts had long thought the punishment too harsh for teen-agers and other relatively minor offenders.

Asks For Water— Escapes

On the pretense of taking a drink of water from a cooler, a 22-year-old San Rafael man broke from custody and sprinted to freedom today at Marin County Jail shortly after being booked on suspicion of mariuana possession.

Deputies raced after Herman Joseph Sanchez of 406 D Street, Apt. A, as he headed towards Mission Avenue, but he disappeared in the darkness.

He had been booked about 12:15 a.m. following his arrest by San Rafael police. Sanchez was one of five persons in a car stopped on E Street with no 1967 tab on the license plate, said Patrolman Donald M. Rose.

He flashed a light inside the car and saw a plastic bag containing what appeared to be marijuana. A further search was made of the car and a cigarette pack in the glove compartment revealed a cigarette thought to contain marijuana.

Sanchez was arrested but the others, who claimed they knew nothing about the drug, were released.

At the booking desk, according to deputies, Sanchez appeared to be under the influence of a drug and, on his way into jail, asked for a drink of water.

Retana said he flagged down one of the cars and toured Mission Avenue. He said he saw Sanchez in the vicinity of a

Murder Claimed Object

Someone else — besides law enforcement officers —is trying to track down the slayer of Negro drug dealer William "Superspade" Thomas. And whoever it is has murder in mind.

Marin County Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said today his office had known for some time there were "certain individuals" who were out to bring their own form of justice to the killer of Thomas.

'ROUGH JUSTICE'

"We would do anything to know their motive," said Stinson. "It could be rough justice and it could be the money."

Thomas, a dealer in LSD, was killed sometime Aug. 3 or 4, trussed in a sleeping bag and dumped over a cliff just south of the Point Reyes lighthouse. The body was found a week ago yesterday.

Sheriff's officers believe he was last seen in Sausalito with about $25,000 in his pocket. When found dead, Thomas had only $15 in his possession in loose change.

Evidence of the existence of a gang of "avengers" came into the open Friday night in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco when 31-year-old Robert Webster, San Francisco police said, attempted to gun down a self-styled theological student called Robert Sparks, 24.

HIS GORILLA

Webster, according to Stinson, was the bodyguard of Thomas and commonly referred to in hip talk as "Superspade's gorilla."

San Francisco Police Inspector Gus Coreris said Saturday he was satisfied at this time that Sparks, who was uninjured in the street fracas Friday, was not involved in the Thomas death.

Stinson said his inspectors' biggest problem was to get hold of information from people before the "avengers" put pressure on them. "There are so many people involved," he said.

Webster often followed Superspade to Marin County on his frequent trips here. Apparently he slipped up on the day that his boss kept his date with death.

A man who drove Thomas to Marin Aug. 3 has told sheriff's officers Superspade dismissed him near the Ark Restaurant in Sausalito when he recognized two men in a bronze car. That moment was the last time anyone saw the victim.

U.S. Jets Hit Border Area Again

SAIGON (UPI) — American bombers attacked vital North Vietnamese railroad targets less than 10 miles from the Communist Chinese border today for the second day in a row, an American spokesman said.

The air war escalation, with the personal approval of President Johnson, was aimed at cutting the major flow of war materials from Red China. Never before had U.S. fighter-bombers hit closer than 30 miles south of the border.

Yesterday, the bombers hit the giant railroad and highway bridge at Lang Son collapsing it like a grotesque "v" into the Ky Cung river. Today, the raiders returned and hit another railroad bridge just three-fifths of a mile away crumbling the southern span of the 360-foot, four-span bridge.

The spokesman said that yesterday, other warplanes caught hundreds of boxcars loaded with war materials clustered in the area and destroyed or damaged 143 of them—the highest number chalked up during any day this year.

The strikes were part of a list of targets that official sources in Washington said President Johnson approved last Tuesday.

No American planes were reported to have been shot down during the two days of raids closer than ever before to

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

China Releases Russ Freighter

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Russian freighter sailed for home today from a Communist Chinese port where it was both pawn and battlefield in a three-day Sino-Soviet confrontation.

The Russians reported the Svirsk badly battered as it left the Yellow Sea port of Dairen where Red Guards of party chief Mao Tse-tung ransacked it repeatedly, battled with the crew and beat up the captain.

Mao's regime ordered the Svirsk freed yesterday only 12 hours after the Kremlin published a telegram from Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to Chinese Premier Chou En-lai. Kosygin threatened to throttle Sino-Soviet trade unless the Svirsk was set free.

Reds Seize North Viet Arms

HONG KONG (UPI)—Foes of Chinese Communist party leader Mao Tse-tung have seized two shiploads of arms bound for North Vietnam, Hong Kong newspapers said today.

They also quoted travelers from Communist China as saying the more than seven million residents of Shanghai, the nation's largest city, are embroiled in a whirlwind of slaughter and chaos.

The travelers, witnesses to Communist China's power struggle, also reported that fighting yesterday between Mao's foes and backers in Canton left a pile of dead "as large as a hill."

Skirt Victory

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI)—Artists, poets, hippies, and teenagers yesterday won the right for women to wear miniskirts into the Odeon Cafe where 50 years ago Bolshevik V. I. Lenin planned revolution and last week the owner banned super short skirts. The ban came down after the youngsters demonstrated at the cafe Saturday.

Eight Trampled

MADRAS, India (UPI)—Eight women, seven children and two men were trampled to death when an elated crowd of 2,000 Hindus surged forward to worship at a temple of Lord Venkataswaram, police said today.

Abortion Bill

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India's family planning commissioner said yesterday the government would present a bill liberalizing abortions in India. The present law forbids abortions except in cases of rape or danger to the life of the mother.

Crash Deaths

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—A head-on crash between two buses near the town of Ayaz in Central Aran killed 38 persons yesterday and injured 33 others.

Leaflet Drop

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI)—Rhodesian air force planes have dropped thousands of leaflets to anti-government terrorists, warning them to "surrender or die," a Rhodesian spokesman said Saturday.

Go-Go Dancer Weds Teener In Virginia

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — The bride wore pasties and the wedding audience drank beer and smoked.

The bridegroom, 17-year-old Dennis St. Clair, wore a tuxedo for the ceremony but the bride, 20-year-old Phyllis Worley, wore two pasties and a satin skirt.

"She is clothed in the garments of salvation," said Judina Rabbi S. Lansing, who performed the topless ceremony in Papa Joe's where the bride works as a topless go-go dancer.

About 350 patrons crowded into the nightclub for the ceremony.

After it was over the bride and groom rushed out to be married.

St. Clair found, after making elaborate plans for the topless wedding, that he was too young to purchase a license in Virginia. He and Phyllis decided not to call off the topless ceremony, but to follow it with a quick trip to South Carolina, where he could purchase a license.

U.C. Announces Birthday Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The University of California announced yesterday that it will celebrate its 100th birthday with an eight-month series of cultural, educational and sports events on the Berkeley campus.

Four major symposiums will be held on the subjects of "The Campus and the Community," "Patterns of American Prejudice," "The State of the Arts and Humanities" and "A Century of Scientific Discovery."

A highlight of the program will be a convocation May 23 in which all nine U.C. campuses will participate.

Grizzly Bears Kill Two Girls In Park

— The superintendent of Glacier National Park says lightning may have goaded two grizzly bears into killing two 19-year-old girls early yesterday as they slept in sleeping bags in this rugged wilderness.

Killed in the separate incidents 20 miles apart in the mountainous park on the Montana-Canada border were Julie Helgeson of Albert Lea, Minn., and Michele Koons of San Diego, Calif. Roy Ducat, 18, of Perrysburg, Ohio, was seriously injured by the bear that killed Miss Helgeson.

SEARCH STARTS

Park Supt. Keith Neilson said his only theory on the attacks was that lightning strikes in the park alarmed the normally shy, near-sighted grizzlies into attacking.

Lightning started 14 forest fires in the park Saturday and yesterday. More than 400 firefighters tried to control them. The park has had no rain since June.

"There seems to be an association between the lightning and the attacks," Neilson said, "but we can't be sure. There is no scarcity of natural food and the grizzly is an unusually shy animal. It's strange for them to attack."

Neilson said he has had several reports of bears nudging people in sleeping bags this summer, but they ran when the campers screamed.

The bear that killed Miss Koons sniffed at four other sleeping bags while the occupants lay frozen with fear, then attacked Miss Koons, Neilson said.

DAYS OFF

All three victims were employed for the summer in park hotels. Miss Koons worked in the gift shop at Lake McDonald Lodge. Miss Helgeson worked in the laundry at East Glacier Lodge and Ducat was a busboy at East Glacier. They were on outings on their days off.

The two girls were the first people reported killed by bears since the park opened in 1910, although several have been injured.

Slaying Probe Is Stepped Up

SUSANVILLE (AP) — Several Lassen County residents, including some with prison records, are being questioned in connection with three recent slayings, authorities say.

The killings triggered one of the most intensive investigation in recent years in this rural northern California county.

Top state crime investigators and technicians and officers from surrounding city and county law enforcement agencies are participating, said Lassen County Sheriff Ben Yeakey.

Victims of the gunshot-stabbing slayings earlier this month were a Susanville ranch couple, Mr. and Mrs. LeVoy DeForest, and a logger from Hoopa, Keith Utterback. In each instance, the victims' cars were taken and later abandoned.

Conservative GOP Brands LBJ Traitor

SANTA MARIA (AP) — The United Republicans of California board of governors has called for sweeping changes in U.S. domestic and foreign policy, including asking Congress to consider impeaching President Johnson as a traitor.

The group charged that President Johnson has "given and comfort" to the enemy by opposing the all-white government of Rhodesia, in permitting diplomatic exchanges with Communist-dominated countries, and by using "his war on poverty and social programs to use taxpayers' money to aid riot agitators who are teaching and practicing the overthrow of these United States."

In their quarterly meeting yesterday the delegates also called for a declaration of war in Vietnam, the removal of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and the abolution of the Job Corps program.

The delegates also urged that all urban renewal be subject to a popular vote.

The conservative group also requested a Senate investigation of the Jewish-sponsored Anti-Defamation League as a subversive organization because it "attacked" right-wing groups; assailed current gun-control laws and charged that insufficient action is being taken by law enforcement officials during riot conditions.

When schools were first established in the area, New Hampshire was still part of Massachusetts.

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY
Turns aside questions

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Gov. George Romney's final push for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination appeared to be under way today following a weekend meeting with three of his major supporters.

The weekend was billed as time of rest and relaxation and Romney and his guests, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Rhode Island Gov. John Chafee, and former Prennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, left yesterday still insisting there had been little serious political discussion.

But at a news conference Saturday, the three for the first time together emphatically endorsed Romney, and said they would work for his nomination.

None of the dozen newsmen who trailed the governors to this island resort, which can be reached only by plane or boat in daylight hours, asked the governor when or if he would announce.

Romney has routinely turned aside that question at every news conference since the 19-year-old governor won a landslide re-election last November and became a frontrunner for the nomination.

The questions and answers seemed to take for granted Romney's intention to seek the nomination.

"Already the three of us share deeply a sense of dedication to help Gov. Romney win the nomination," Rockefeller said as he sat with the other three on the veranda of the governor's three-story, 20-room, white-frame mansion overlooking the broad Straits of Mackinac.

Chafee has endorsed Romney in the past as has Rockefeller, but Scranton, who left office in January after the four-year term that Pennsylvania governors are limited to, has been pretty much of a fence-sitter.

Scranton beamed his approval, however, of Rockefeller's statement as did Chafee.

Rockefeller was asked about the possibility of his trying for the vice presidential spot on a Romney ticket.

"That's not my responsibility," he said. "That's George's."

Tall Robber Takes Money At Market

A tall 200-pound robber last night held up the Short Stop Market, 141 Bellam Avenue, San Rafael, at gunpoint and escaped with an undisclosed amount of money.

Store clerk Rayford Y. Lee Jr. said the man entered the store at 10:15 p.m. and asked for change for a quarter.

When Lee opened the register the man pulled out a .32-caliber automatic, Lee said, and ordered, "Okay, you've seen it and know what it is, give me all you got."

When he got the money, he told Lee to "lie down on the floor for 10 minutes, there is a gun across the street watching."

Lee said he heard the robber run out the rear entrance, but heard no car leaving.

Store officials would not disclose the amount taken, police said. The robber was described as over six feet tall, weighing 200 pounds, with black wavy hair, brown eyes and a short beard on the chin.

AWOL Pair Is Now In Custody

Two men who were absent without leave from the military, were returned to duty at Hamilton Air Force Base over the weekend.

Army Pvt. James E. Hutchinson, 17, of 816 McClay Road, Novato, was arrested by Novato police early this morning and turned over to Hamilton Air Force Base authorities. He was later transferred to the Presidio of San Francisco. He had been AWOL from Camp Roberts since July 24, according to police reports.

A/3c Allen D. Atkinson, who has been AWOL from Edwards Air Force Base since July 5, turned himself in Saturday afternoon at the main gate to Hamilton. He was transferred to Travis Air Force Base.

Minor Injuries In 101 Accident

Three persons suffered minor injuries yesterday in a two-car crash on northbound High way 101, south of the Alto Wye.

A car driven by William Walter Duffial, 39, of Boardwalk No. 1, Larkspur, stopped behifd slow traffic at 2:50 p.m., California Highway Patrol reported. Then an unknown vehicle made a quick lane change in front of a car driven by Mary Stewart Littell, 56, of Santa Rosa, who then hit the rear of Duffial's car, according to the patrol.

Mrs. Littell was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip and nose. Gail Peterson, 7, had care for a bruised lip and cut little finger on her right hand and Kim Westfall, 10, for a bruised nose. Lisle Westfall, 8, escaped injury. All were passengers in Mrs. Littell's car and were from Santa Rosa.

Medical Bags Are Stolen

About 100 types of drugs in two medical bags belonging to a Kent Woodlands doctor were reported stolen yesterday.

Dr. Lee M. Cecil of 1 Raven Way, told Sheriff's deputies he left the two bags in his garage when he returned from a trip and they were found missing later.

The doctor said few of the drugs would be of any benefit to the thief. He was unavailable today when contacted for more informatimn.

Dr. Laurence L. Friedman, who has a practice from the same offices at 599 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Green brae said, "From what I know of the drugs Dr. Cecil carries, they could be dangerous if improperly used."

Missing San Rafael Girl Returns Home

Her mother, Mrs. Mona Cameron of 88 Rollingwood Drive, wrote that the girl had returned and the family will move to New Jersey as planned before the girl disappeared.

ministration will continue those restrictions except on certain key, vital missions. The restricted areas are a 30-mile diameter circle around Hanoi, penetrated two or three times previously, and a 15-to-20-mile-wide buffer zone along the North Vietnam-Red China boundary.

Fulbright said the bombing near Red China "is directly contrary to what was the established policy of the government in 1964 and it will lead the country directly into the most disastrous consequences."

Fulbright's committee, including members already troubled over Vietnam, cut Johnson's $3.4 billion foreign aid request by $736 million.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, a foe of increased bombingn said he hopes to hold the line against further cuts in the bill.

The Senate warmed up to its latest Vietnam tussle Friday when a battery of members questioned how fairly the South Vietnamese elections will be run.

Clark Clifford, a Johnson emissary, said yesterday he gave South Vietnamese leaders earlier this month the President's warning a rigged presidential election would cost South Vietnam the support of the American people.

He and Gen. Maxwell Taylor visited South Vietnam chief of state Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, a candidate for president, and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, Thieu's running mate for vice president.

Benefit Dance For Ball Team

A public dance to benefit the Novato Babe Ruth championship team will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight today at the Novato Moose Hall at 855 Vallejo Avenue, Novato.

The proceeds from this dance, put on by the Novato lodge, will be given to the team for it's trip to Fairbanks, Alaska, for the championship tournament.

Tracy Rundle, vice president of the league, said that donations to the fund have slowed down, but that he expected them to pick up again with the dance tonight. The league officials are trying to raise $1,500 which they think will be necessary for equipment and extra expenses on the trip. The team, which won the southwest regional championship, is scheduled to leave Novato Thurday for Fairbanks.

Houseboat Hit By Big Blaze

Fire "swallowed" the houseboat, Jonah, Saturday at Kappas Yacht Harbor while the new lessee of the boat was in the process of moving aboard.

Marin County firemen said today that the fire burned the boat to the waterline and damage was estimated at $4,000, including $150 in personal belongings.

Charles Beedle, a college student from Campbell, Santa Clara County, was moving into the houseboat, but was away at the time the fire started at about 2:48 p.m. Rick Metsger, boat owner, was reported to be in Mexico. Firemen said they are investigating the cause of the fire.

Restaurant Is Hit By Pickets

Pat and Joe's Restaurant at 71 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, was picketed Saturday by the building trades who allege that having a non-union painter, the restaurant owners violated rules of the Painters Local Union 83, San Rafael.

Partner Joe Evonek said today that he wanted to paint the restaurant in keeping with the current paint-up campaign and it was a matter of paying for a job he could afford. The color, said Evonek, is green and trim charcoal.

$1,000 In Clothing, Furnishings Stolen

A burglar stole clothing and furnishings valued at more than $1,000 Saturday night from the house of Robert A. Willis, 1614 Fourth Street, San Rafael police said today.

Taken were five men's suits, four sweaters, two sports jackets, two stereo phonographs, a portable television set and 250 record albums.

Variance Request

The Corte Madera Board of Adjustments will consider Sandra Guldman's request for a variance for a fence at 633 Chapman Drive Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

Sausalitan Held In Poster Theft

Police startled a poster-loving man when he leaped from a transom window of the Sausalito psychedelic poster shop, Oshkosh B'Gosh, at 4:45 a.m. yesterday.

Arrested about four hours later in his poster-filled apartment was Robert Alan Gerard, 25, of 7 Excelsior Lane, Apt. 11. Gerard was booked in county jail on charges of burglary and remained in jail today in lieu of $5,500 bail.

Patrolman Steven Willis was making a turn at Bridgeway and Princess Street when the headlights of his patrol car hit the front of the shop where Willis saw a pile of posters and other objects in the door-way.

A moment later Willis observed a man jump down from the transom, then "freeze" in the patrol car headlights. The poster man took off running northbound on Bridway and cut into the alley of Reade Lane. Willis in pursuit. Willis yelled for the man to halt and fired once above his head but the man escaped.

The description of the poster thief matched the description of a man living at 7 Excelsior Lane. Sgt. James Nunes reported today, and Willis went to that address at about 8 a.m., aroused the sleeping Gerard and identified him as the man he had seen jump from the transom.

In Gerard's room were many more posters as well as about $145 in cash, believed to have been stolen from the shop. Gerard was arrested.

The transom had been broken to enable entry, police said. Found in the store doorway were two large rolls of posters, a bag of jewelry containing 12 rings valued at from 15 to $50 each, a necklace, 28 record albums, some post cards and a number of water pipes.

Officers found about $145 in cash hidden throughout Gerrard's apartment, about the same amount which was reported stolen from two cash boxes in a storeroom of the Oshkosh B'Gosh, according owner Dean Taylor of Richmond.

Gerard had formerly managed the store but had been let go, police said.

Man Reports Pick Stabbing

A man whol told sheriff's deputies "I don't have an enemy in the world," was stabbed in the chest with an ice pick in Marin City Saturday.

Officers reported they talked to Oris Williams, 31, of 103 Drake Avenue, Marin City when he was brought to the emergency room at Marin General Hospital at 5 p.m. He was released after treatment for the minor wound.

Williams said the stabbing occured outside a barbers shop and there were a large group of men about at the time. He could not assist further with the investigation, said deputies.

Jail Term Given On Check Charge

Charles Eugene Bernero, 38, of Fairfax, was given six months in county jail and placed on three years probation today in Marin Superior Court for possession of checks with intent to defraud.

Bernero, of 111 Chester Avenue, had checks totaling $358.12 stolen from Cemcel Corp., Gate 5, Marinship, and intended to defraud the Lucky store in Fairfax and George's Recreation Parlor, San Rafael, on June 16.

He was arrested June 30 and pleaded guilty.

Building Progress Report Due Trustees

Fairfax School District Board will hear a report on construction of the new White Hill School at its meeting at 7:45 p.m. tomorrow in the district office, 58 Park Road.

The school is scheduled to open next January, according to Supt. H. Reginald Hammond.

Youth Arraigned On Store Robbery

A 20-year-old San Rafael youth, William D. Ayers, was arraigned in Marin Superior Court today on a charge of robbing Tweedie's General Store in Santa Venetia at gunpoint June 30.

Judge Harold J. Haley scheduled plea entry for Sept. 18. Ayers, of 1713 Lincoln Avenue, was arrested by California Highway Patrol on description minutes after the robbery.

WAR

the Chinese border. American pilots previously had been forbidden from flying within 30 miles of the Chinese border to prevent them from accidently violating Red Chinese air space.

There had been several previous incidents, however, including one in which an American pilot chased an opposing fighter plane into China and shot it down. MIGs frequently flee toward Chinese sanctuary rather than tangle with American pilots. Presumably, American pilots may now be allowed to chase them in "hot pursuit" closer to the Chinese border.

Pilots reported seeing MIGs in the air during the two days of raids near Lang Son, but no dogfights were reported.

American military officials feel that Red China will not enter the war unless Chinese borders are actually violated.

Although there are no known Chinese military units as such operating in North Vietnam, the Chinese have sent more than 50,000 men to help maintain the railroad and to operate anti-aircraft guns which help protect it.

The twin bridges at Lang Son were prime targets. Across them poured thousands of tons of war supplies for the Hanoi regime. Knocking them out, coupled with bombing out a span of the Doumer Bridge across the Red River at Hanoi, has effectively cut for the time at least a major part of the war materials needed by North Vietnam to carry on the war in the south.

The strikes within a record 10 miles of the forbidden frontier came immediately after the Air Force told UPI it had been striking targets in neighboring, neutral Laos for the past three years and three months.

In South Vietnam, American soldiers today battled Communist forces in the deep jungle valleys of northern Quang Tin province. In two engagements, 35 Communists and two Americans were reported killed. Another 19 GI's were wounded, spokesmen said.

Further north U.S. Marines in Operation Cochise, launched Friday, reported killing 13 Communists. The Leathernecks suffered two men killed and 22 wounded, spokesmen said.

Injuries Minor To Cycling Pair

A motorcyclist and his passenger from San Anselmo escaped with minor injuries yesterday in an accident on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, two miles west of Fairfax.

The motorcycle, being driven west at 2:30 p.m. by George Alfred Dillon, 19, of 65 Garden Rock, San Anselmo, swerved while passing another vehicle on a curve and threw its two riders off, California Highway Patrol reported.

Dillon was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes. His passenger, Catherin Lynne Del Pino, 19, of 133 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, was treated for cuts and bruises.

Tiburon Home Found Looted

Trudy Lanser reported yesterday to Tiburon sheriff's deputies she stopped by her parents' house, 985 Tiburon Boulevard and found it "in a mess" and several items had been stolen.

She said her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jan H. Lanser, were away for the weekend.

Missing were $70 cash from the master bedroom, along with a $300 gold bracelet, a gold woman's watch, a silver woman's watch, a man's gold stick pin with seven diamonds and three rubies.

Finale Tomorrow For Rabies Shots

Dog owners, who have not yet had their pets vaccinated against rabies, will have a final opportunity to do so tomorrow between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the health department building, 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, the health department announced.

The vaccination, which is required by state law for all dogs over four months old, costs $2 and good for two years. Failure to comply with the law may result in a $300 fine, a six-motnh jail sentence, the health department warned.

County Health Officer Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht said 3276 dogs have been vaccinated at the public clinics this year.

house in the 1100 block but a search of the area by San Rafael police was unsuccessful.

George Michael Stiltner, 20, of 724 Cherry Street, Novato was stopped for questioning by San Rafael Patrolman Charles Brobeck when Stiltner was seen driving a car known to be used by friends of the escapee.

Checking out the car, Brobeck found a plastic bag containing what was believed to be marijuana, some pills and assorted paraphernalia which could be used for taking narcotics.

Stiltner was jailed on suspicion of possessing marijuana and was being held today on $2,750 bail.

Hippie Pad Arrests Net Drug Suspects

Three teen-agers from Palm Springs were among five arrested in Tiburon Friday, in connection with a drug investigation of a "hippie pad", and more arrests are expected, Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen said today.

Dennis Carl Deyo, 19, of 7136 Miles Avenue, Corte Madera, and Robert Edward Miller, 18, of Huntington Park, Los Angeles County, were booked at the county jail on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of minors, after deputies found the three Palm Springs youngsters in a car with them. Some pills believed to be drugs also were found with them, Johansen said. Deyo and Miller remained in jail at noon today in lieu of $550 bail.

The juveniles, a 16 and 17-year-old boy and a 17-year-old girl, all from Palm Springs, were booked at Juvenile Hall for being beyond parental control.

Friday, at 3:30 p.m., Sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff saw a car pull away from 1811 Mar West Street, Tiburon, which he termed a "hippie-type pad" where he and Lt. William Johansen on Thursday had picked up some 96 plants later found to be marijuana by the state Bureau of Narcotics.

The car was one listed as used by a possible runaway from Plalms Springs and was also suspected to have drugs in it. Goff stopped the car at Tiburon Boulevard and Lyford Drive. Goff reported he found "numerous reddish pills" in the pockets of the five suspects in the car. The pills have been sent to the narcotics bureau for analysis.

Deyo, who was driving, had just completed a 45-day jail term in Orange County for sale and possession drugs, Goff said.

He learned the group had come to the Bay Area last week, went first to the Haight-Ashbury district in San Francisco, then came to Tiburon. They told him they slept on Mount Tamalpais at the Panoramic Highway toll ranger station.

The group was first stopped by Deputy Joseph G. Kelly last Tuesday at 10:30 p.m. in the Northwestern Pacific Railroad yard and questioned, as they were dressed as hippies.

Lt. Johansen said he learned Wednesday some of them had been involved in narcotics cases and some were possibly runaways.

On a visit to the house on Mar West Street Thursday, Johansen said one youth was observed smoking what appeared to be a marijuana cigarette. Another youth dropped his sweater over a bowl which Johansen uncovered and found what he suspected was dry marijuana. Then he and Goff found the green marijuana plants outside and confiscated them.

Innocent Pleas

A headline in Saturday's Independent-Journal erroneously stated Claude B. Burton and Frederick R. Jones, both of Marin City, entered guilty court pleas in an Aug. 4 fracas with sheriff's officers. The story, which said the men entered innocent pleas, was correct.

Injuries Serious From Collision

An 82-year-old visitor from Beverly Hills suffered serious injuries at 9:15 p.m. yesterday in a four-car pileup on Highway 101, two miles north of San Marin Drive, east of Novato.

Edwin Bennett Jacka, 82, of Beverly Hills, was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital, with a broken pelvic bone and cut forehead. He was a passneger in a car driven by Ralph Thompson Duncan, 78, of Los Gatos.

California Highway Patrol reported that four cars were southbound in the fast lane. As one driven by Kenneth Howard Ward, 24, of Redwood City, stopped for traffic ahead, Duncan's car hit the rear of one ahead driven by Vingente Barradas, 65, of San Francisco, pushing it into one driven by Emmagene Barjes Gardner, 59, of Redwood City, who then hit Ward's car, the patrol said.

Released Saturday

William Robert Dillon, 27, of 77 Melville Avenue, San Anselmo, was released Satuday from Marin General Hospital. He was admitted Aug. 10 after accidently stabbing himself with a steak knife.

Inmate's Knife Possession Trial Scheduled Tomorrow

Two criminal cases were scheduled today on the master calendar for jury trial this week in Marin Superior Court. A third was rescheduled for the week of Aug. 28.

Trial of Arthur L. Richmond, San Quentin inmate accused of knife possession, will begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Richmond, serving time for second degree robbery and crime against nature, allegedly had the knife Jan. 2. His June 15 trial on those charges ended in a hung jury after a series of events including disclosure of an escape plot.

Melkin Melkonian, 32, is scheduled for trial at 10 a.m. Wednesday before Judge Harold J. Haley on a charge of marijuana possession at his home, 424 West Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, Jan. 16.

Trial of Peggy Ann Priesman, 26, and Joseph Jarvis, 28, jointly accused of shooting at Mrs. Nadine Hall of 125 Woodward Avenue, Sausalito, on April 29, was continued until Aug. 28 because they currently are in jury trial on charges of armed robbery of Bottle Shop in Sausalito, also on April 29.

Loma Verde Master Change On Agenda

A change in the Loma Verde master plan to take 20 acres out of a community center site and allow single family residential construction on it will come before the Novato Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The Marin Oaks Development Co. has asked for this change for the land on the south side of the 500 block of Alemeda De La Loma. The request was approved by the parks and recreation commission.

Sunset International Petroleum Co. has asked for a change in the commercial zone to allow a small grocery store on a service station site at the southwest corner of San Marin and San Andreas drives.

The county planning commission has referred a request by Paul Sade to rezone from limited agricultural to mobile home park, 50 acres at 300 Olive Avenue.

D. M. Christensen has asked for a change in the proposed land use for the Novato square master plan for the old Grant School property at Highway 101 and Grant Avenue.

Other items to come before the commission include continued hearings on a request by S. H. Cervantes Jr. to rezone from limited agriculture to commercial one acre at Entrada Drive and Norman Drive; and a request from Robert Coman, developer, to constduct two or more 250-bed hospital buildings on 11 acres at the corner of Tamalpaisc Avenue and Hill Avenue.

$5,000 Damage To Home From Fire

Fire, which started at about 12:45 p.m., yesterday, under the stairs of the Edward Sykes home at 160 Rose Avenue, Mill Valley, caused estimated $5,000 in damage.

Firemen are investigating the cause of the blaze which burned the stairs on the second floor, walls and rugs and caused heat and smoke damage throughout the house. There was no one at home at the time, firemen said.

ABAG To Rule On Voting Issue

The executive committee of the Association of Bay Area Governments will rule on how reorganization of the committee will affect voting procedures at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Hotel Claremont, Berkeley.

The effective date of the change in size of the committee from 20 to 34 must be decided, and whether a quorum for voting will be a majority of total members or of agencies represented.

With the added members, Marin County representation on the committee was reduced from 10 per cent to 5.9 per cent.

Craftsmanship
(Is it a lost art?)

Most people think craftsmanship went out with hand made products. But here and there you find a product or service made to last for a lifetime by people who still care what others think of their name.

Sam Busschaert's is just such a firm. We believe that our efforts in upholstery and auto glass are meant to live far beyond your expectations.

Speaking honestly, we do have economy covers for some older cars. These economy covers are not expected to last. But, they are expected to carry your car to that date when you trade for a newer and better vehicle.

Most of our seat covers, all of our glass work and custom upholstery has that unique quality which sets it above the ordinary. We use the finest of materials . . . our expert staff of experienced journeymen apply the most modern of techniques.

Still think craftsmanship is a lost art?

LBJ Warns Saigon On Clean Elections

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson sent a personal message to the leaders of Saigon's military government warning them that a rigged election in South Vietnam would alienate the American people.

The chief executive's message was disclosed yesterday by the two special envoys he dispatched on a round of Asian visits last month, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Washington attorney Clark Clifford.

Clifford said the President's message to Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky, south Vietnam's premier, and Gen. Nguyen Van Theiu, the chief of state, "said as bluntly as it can be said that if there was any one act on their part which would be calculated to alienate the American people, it would be to have a rigged election . . ."

"I personally believe that they understood that very well," Clifford added.

Taylor, who appeared with Clifford on a television interview (Face the Nation—CBS), said that all the evidence he and Clifford had seen "indicates that the (Saigon) government is insistent on an honest election. They are making every effort, under the conditions of war, to obtain conditions where campaigning is possible, and where the elections will be carried out with the maximum participation of the voters. Now this is tough doing . . . under the conditions in South Vietnam."

New Buddhist Crisis Brews

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's militant Buddhists vowed today to stage protests against the government's recognition of a rival faction as the country's official Buddhist Church and hinted at a "struggle movement."

In a strongly worded statement, the leadership also denounced the current presidential campaign and called for "drastic changes."

They avoided saying what form the protests would take, but questions about "struggle movements" or "demonstrations," brought wild cheers and applause from the more than 800 Buddhist followers at a news conference.

Seminars Set For Lawmakers

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's lawmakers will go back to school for a few afternoons when they return to Sacramento next month to consider bills vetoed by the governor.

Assembly speaker Jesse Unruh, D-Inglewood, said yesterday that the classes will be conducted by five experts in the fields of business, science and education.

Heading the seminars will be Louis Harris, a public opinion pollster; Henry Rowen, president of Rand Corporation; Dr. Emanuel Mesthene, director of the Technology and Society program at Harvard University; Dr. Allan Cartter, chancellor and executive vice president of New York University, and Dr. Walter Hoakley, senior vice president and chief economist of Bank of America.

Battery Stolen

Margaret Anderson of 1011 Vista Way, Belvedere, reported to San Rafael police Friday that the battery worth $30, was stolen from her auto last Friday night while it was parked behind 712 Fifth Avenue.

Ex-Garrison Aide Guilty Of Perjury

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A five-man jury early today found attorney Dean Andrews Jr. guilty on three-counts of perjury in connection with Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's investigation of the Kennedy assassination.

Andrews was being tried on charges he lied to the grand jury investigating the assassination last March when he said he could not determine whether it was Clay L. Shaw, using the name Clay Bertrand, who phoned asked him to represent Lee Harvey Oswald in Dallas.

NO EMOTION

Andrews showed no emotion when the verdict was announced. Earlier while waiting for the jury to return, he turned to his lawyers and said, "perjury, what a way to go."

Andrews was the first person to be tried in connection with Garrison's assassination investigation.

Shaw, charged with conspiring to kill President John F. Kennedy, is the next person to be tried in connection with the investigation. His trial probably will begin in September or October.

Andrews faced up to five years in prison. Judge Shea did not say when he would sentence Andrews.

TO BE APPEALED

Defense attorneys said the case will be appealed as soon as possible.

Defense attorney Harry Burglass said yesterday that Andrews was indicted on five counts only because he would not identify the mysterious Bertrand as Shaw.

"They wanted him (Andrews) to change his story, but he ain't that kind of guy," Burglass said.

Prosecutor James Alcock charged that Andrews told several different and conflicting stories about Bertrand. He said the district attorney was only seeking the truth, even if the truth was that Andrews had made up the story about the 1963 Bertrand phone call.

The defense presented the entire two-hour taped recording of Andrews' testimony to the grand jury.

Pope Moves To Make Curia More Liberal

VATICAN CITY (AP) — With little fanfare, Pope Paul VI is opening the doors of the conservative Roman Curia to direct influence by national conferences of Roman Catholic bishops around the world.

This may turn out to be the most significant move in his developing program to make the Curia, the central administration of the Church, more democratic and modern.

PAPAL DECREE

The move was announced Saturday with publication of a signed decree stipulating that diocesan bishops would be made full members of the 12 congregations, the major Curia agencies.

Seven bishops will be named to each of the 12 congregations plus three heads of orders to the Congregation of the Religious.

This means 84 bishops from various conferences will come to the Vatican each year to attend the congregations' plenary meetings dealing with policy and major decisions.

DIRECT SAY

The bishops in effect will be representatives of bishops in their homelands, exercising for the first time a direct say on Curia actions from the bishops in the field.

The influence can be considerable, depending on how many cardinals are already members.

In the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, for example, there are now 11 Curia cardinals—headed by conservative Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani—and 3 cardinals from the outside. With the bishops, the lineup will be 11 Curia cardinals and 10 other prelates.

NEW LINEUP

In the consistorial Congregation, which deals with the selection and discipline of bishops, the present lineup is 16 Curia cardinals and 11 from the outside.

The new lineup will be 16 and 18, giving outside prelates a majority.

Up to now appointments to top Curia posts have practically amounted to life terms. The bishops coming in from the dioceses will serve for five years, then be replaced. This means a regular turnover of people and ideas, the new blood that progressive church circles have been calling for.

It is especially significant that the national conferences of bishops will do the selecting for the new Curia posts.

Pope Paul will make the formal appointments but at his order the names of candidates will be drawn up by the conferences and submitted to Rome.

Luci Is Elated; Back With Son

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Luci and Pat Nugent returned from a two-week Bahama vacation yesterday to take over the duties of proud babysitter, the President of the United States.

The daughter of President Johnson and her husband rushed to the White House to renew the acquaintance of their rapidly growing baby boy, 2 month-old Patrick Lyndon. Luci confided to White House aides that "at first you feel you can't go away from your baby and you miss him when you do, but when you come back, it's all the more wonderful to see how much he has grown."

TRAPPED IN WELL

Youth Prays As Diggers Free Him

WILLIAMSON, W.Va. EAP) — An odd job to earn money for school clothes almost cost 15-year-old Lenoard Boyce his life. He climbed into a neighbor's water well on a cleaning project, then faced 24 hours of deathly terror.

Tons of rock and earth collapsed on the youth 14 feet underground Friday evening and it took some 40 rescue workers using shovels, bare hands and earth moving equipment until Saturday evening to pull him free.

"I thought I was a goner for sure," recalled Boyce from his hospital bed here, where he was reported in good condition today after two nights of good sleep.

Boyce, of Parsley's Bottom near this southwestern West Virginia community close to the Kentucky border, was trapped up to his chest and went without food except for some water and hot chocolate during the 24 hours that workers frantically tried to set him free.

Cave-in after cave-in frustrated rescue efforts and for awhile some workers feared the well would collapse and entomb the youth.

After the boy was pulled free the rescue trenches and the well, in the sloping front yard of Willard Howell, were filled in by a bulldozer.

Smiling from his hospital bed, but still able to eat only soft foods, Boyce said "Praying helped pull me through."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boyce along with dozens of other relatives and well-wishers visited him yesterday.

Leonard will be a sophomore in Lenore High School this fall. His father, a former coal miner, receives about $250 monthly from the state Welfare Department.

Boyce, attempting to climb out of the well, knocked loose a couple of large rocks, that triggered the cave-in, and he was trapped.

Lawmaker Cites Tax Break Law On Farm Lands

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Property taxes on many California farms can be reduced beginning with the 1968 tax year through new legislation approved this year, Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, has announced.

However, Knox said relief will be limited to farmers willing to guarantee that their land will remain in agricultural production.

The new assessment procedure, adopted in the closing hours of the 1967 session utilizes provisions of two existing laws—the scenic easement act and the land conservation act. Between now and the March 1968 lien date for property assessments, a landowner may use the provisions of either statute to restrict the use of his land to agricultural or conservationist purposes.

Assessors will have to recognize these restrictions and reduce the assessed value of such lands.

"I am contacting all boards of supervisors and county assessors to inform them of the new legislation and urge them to take the necessary local steps to provide assessment relief in 1968," Knox said.

15,000 Watch Second Annual Watts Parade

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An estimated 15,000 persons, many of them white, lined a two and one-half mile parade route in South Los Angeles yesterday to watch a two-hour parade that ended the second annual Wattes Summer Festival.

The parade was led by deposed World Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, who rode in an open convertible with Festival Co-chairmen Stanley Sanders and Billy Joe Tidwell, and Herbert Muhammad, son of Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad. Clay was grand marshal.

The floats, bands, girls, antique autos, horses and drill teams moved south on Central Avenue and then east of 103rd street—the once infamous "charcoal alley" that is the main thoroughfare of Watts. The tiny corner of Los Angeles was the heart of rioting in which 34 persons died and $40 million was lost in arson and looting two years ago.

Marin Workers Earn Awards From Engineers

Suggestions for how the Army Corps of Engineers can improve itself have resulted in cash for two Marin County employees. Three others have been awarded for "outstanding services."

Mrs. Margherita G. Rimmer of 1495 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, secretary to District Engineer Lt. Col. Frank C. Boerger, received $15 for simplifying itinery forms plus $150 for superior performance.

For her services, Mrs. Edith M. Carman of 12 Corte Las Sombras, Greenbrae, also received $150, and John P. Hogan of 37 Ridgeway Drive, San Rafael, chief of the finance and accounting branch, was given an outstanding rating for his work.

For suggesting a way of improving a filing system for projects, Jimmie W. Humphries, of 30 Belle Avenue, Fairfax, received a $15 cash award.

Nicholas J. Hainovsky, 21, of Homestead Boulevard, Homestead Valley, acting chief of water resources planning section, was regarded with an increase in salary.

Talent Sought For Recreation

Officials of San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department have become talent scouts and are searching for people who may help them run the fall and winter recreation program.

Wanted are part-time instructors in 35 diverse subjects ranging from story telling, skiing and square dancing and from baton twirling, ballet dancing and bridge.

Instruction would be for one or more age groups, according to A. J. Snyder Jr., director, who is accepting applications at the department office in city hall.

Cities Checked In Handling Of Riot Injuries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials are surveying the capacity of cities to handle medical emergencies resulting from riots, with indications federal aid might be proposed if major deficiencies are found.

Dr. Carruth Wagner, director of the Public Health Service's Bureau of Health Services, says the standard of planning for emergencies always has depended on the existence of law and order.

Rioting, he said in an interview, "makes it an entirely different ball game."

Wagner noted that in the Newark, N.J., riot there was evidence ambulances were fired upon by snipers. "Most people never would have anticipated this," he said.

He added some Newark hospital staff members were unable to get to work because the riot area lay between their homes and the hospital. He said good blood and blood substitutes were in short supply.

Famed Theater To Close Doors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Telenews Theater, a Market Street fixture for 28 years, will close tomorrow.

Owner Manuel Levin said the shutdown will leave only two similar news and short subject theaters remaining in the nation, both in New York City.

Youths Form Council On Hub Town Meeting

Student leaders from Marin's 11 high schools are laying plans for an all-day Marin Youth Congress Nov. 18 at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The congress will be modeled after last April's town meeting in San Anselmo, with general discussions before and after study group sessions.

Tentative topics for the seminars, according to Michael Tierney of Fairfax, are communication with adults, student roles in city and county government, recreation facilities, communication between schools, and academic aspects of school.

Tierney said high school principals will be invited to attend, as will mayors and councilmen of Marin's cities, the county board of supervisors, and members of school boards.

All high school students will be invited to attend and take part in the discussion groups, which will be limited to students except for an adult observer with each group, Tierney said. Groups will be limited to 15 to allow each member a chance to speak, he said.

Groups for each topic are to offer recommendations at the afternoon meeting for a general vote. Those approved will be followed up by student committees, Tierney said.

Tierney said the congress has been endorsed by several city councils and is seeking financial backing from Rotary clubs.

He said the congress's role will differ from that of Marin Youth for Action in limiting itself to matters within Marin County.

The congress leaders are to meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Drake to further plans for the November meeting.

Cities Leave Eyesores —And Even Make Them

The same storm carried the Edward Salza house at 90 Woodside Drive in San Anselmo, which had begun to slide earlier, nearly 15 feet downhill.

It also started the W. G. Stone home at 292 Via La Paz in the Larkspur section of Greenbrae on a downhill slide.

THE SAN ANSELMO City Council the next night ordered immediate action on the Red Hill slide, including removal of all or a portion of the wrecked buildings.

Within days, the city told Salza his house would have to be removed as a hazard. On Jan. 31, the city ordered the $40,000 home burned. The San Anselmo Fire Department burned it the next day.

The City of Larkspur told Stone he would have to remove his home immediately as it was endangering others. He had it demolished at his own expense.

The story was a little different with the Red Hill apartments. One day after ordering immediate removal of "all or a portion, whichever is necessary," the San Anselmo council backtracked when told this might cause more slides.

NOTHING HAPPENED until May 9, when Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell told the council it would cost about $12,000 to remove the wreckage.

Councilmen agreed the city should not spend tax money to clear the property. It was left up to City Atty. John G. Buresh to see that it was removed by the owners. That proved difficult since ownership had changed hands through loan default. On July 25, the council told Buresh to order the bonding company that underwrote the building bonds to remove the wreckage "within 30 days."

It is still there.

ON MAY 30, the City of Larkspur sent its own bulldozers to Boardwalks 2, 3 and 4, where residents had been evicted to make way for the Corte Madera Flood Control project. City crews bulldozed 18 arks. But they did not remove the wreckage.

On Aug. 2, the Larkspur City Council told City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst to put pressure on the Army Corps of Engineers to remove the debris city crews had left along the boardwalk. The same night, the council ordered Stone to remove some debris which remained from the destruction of his expensive home which he had paid to have leveled after the January floods.

The wreckage of the Larkspur arks is still there.

In the Salza and Stone cases, the cities were quick to order removal of hazards.

In the Red Hill apartment case, the City of San Anselmo has allowed a hazardous eyesore to remain for months.

In the arks case, the City of Larkspur created an eyesore itself, and is now asking the Army to clean it up.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Last month when General de Gaulle, the gallant old soldier and statesman, stood on the Plains of Abraham, he must have thought of another gallant soldier who died on this historic battlefield. He must also have thought of the lack of success of Franch arms over the centuries that conjured up memories of lost causes.

1346: Crecy — beaten by the English.

1704: Turin — booted out of Italy.

1805: Trafalgar — the virtual death of French sea-power.

1899: Panama scandal and failure.

1917: The agonizing months of May and June that found 102 elements of the French Army in mutiny with 23,000 convictions and 52 executions.

1920: Accepting multi-million dollar loans from the United States and letting them go into default.

1940: The 35 day capitulation of French Arms to German blitzkrieg.

1940: The inglorious role of the Vichy government. General de Gaulle was one of the shining bright stars of Free France.

1961: The mutiny of the high ranking French generals.

1962: Algeria — after seven years of unsuccessful fighting the French elected to bow out.

Be charitable in judging General de Gaulle's plan to upgrade French morale. France needs General de Gaulle like a small boy needs a good father. If he seems to over-compensate, just think how much compensation is needed.

Bridge Study Called Folly

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The decision of the Golden Gate Bridge directors to finance an expensive study to second deck the bridge must surely be the height of folly.

Exactly what is not needed is to pour more autos into San Francisco in the morning and back into Marin in the evening. A study to provide a means for rapid transit would be more practical. Let us hope that these directors will not find means of perpetuating themselves in their jobs any longer than necessary.

Bus Ride Makes Ferry Advocate

Editor, Independent-Journal:

After a slow, uncomfortable ride on the bus tonight — and it is getting a little worse every day—I urge everybody to read an article in I.J. of Aug. 8 on super-ferry service. Let us not throw any more money away on Golden Gate Bridge studies, widening of highways, second bridge, etc., but let's proceed in the sensible direction of using what is so readily available to us — our waterways.

Handouts, Yes; Real Help, No

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I just recently have become disillusioned and confused about the changing concepts of our American way of life and the precepts upon which our economy supposedly rests: hard work, enterprise, competition, and initiative.

The reasons for my coming to this conclusion have come about in this way: I have recently as a subcontractor moved into an office with warehouse space in San Rafael and at the same time doubled my overhead in terms of cost, equipment, etc., I have added three employees during this period of expansion and my working capital has thus been narrowed considerably and been cut to a premium.

As a licensed contractor, I have been in business over two years in the county and lived and owned property here since 1962. My suppliers are paid every month, my credit is established, references numerous, and my history in business of paying is substantial. However, in my limited expansion these past few months and my need for more working capital, i.e., money to tide the business over until this adjustment has acclimated itself to my increased method of operation, the lending institutions which I have talked to have refused my efforts in securing monies.

Here is the point where I am taking a long look at the seeming inequities and injustices which I believe have pervaded our economic system in recent years. Right now we are looking at large programs being initiated and carried out by our state and federal governments to give away huge sums of money to people who have no desire to work and whose initiative is decreased through these handouts; yet a small businessman, who has created more jobs and needs additional money . . . cannot even be considered, even though his business record has proven successful.

The incongruity involved here makes an individual wonder whether the effort is worthwhile. I imagine I speak for other small businesses whose considerations here are similar. Can we be blamed sometimes for wondering where our current economic system is going?

Riot Probers Should Avoid Warren Commission's Mistakes

WASHINGTON — The President's commission on the causes and cures of the riots could draw valuable lessons from the shortcomings of the Warren Commission — and apply them usefully to its own work.

The commission may do so. Members see their role as much more timely and urgent than suggested by the President's distant deadlines and are taking an open-minded attitude on how best to conduct the investigation.

There must be a way to combine care and thoroughness in the investigation with awareness that events are not going to freeze while the commission ponders behind closed doors and the staff writes up 20 volumes of findings.

OBVIOUSLY the nature and purpose of the anti-riot investigation are far different than those of the Warren investigation. But it is evident that the Warren Commission was not effective in getting the nation to accept its findings. One of the main reasons it failed to do so is the way it went about its job.

The overrriding value of the anit-riot investigation will not be its findings, however helpful, but its ability to communicate its findings and to persuade public opinion and leadership opinion at every level to accept them and to act upon them.

Drawing on how the Warren Commission illustrated how not to do it, the anti-riot commission could well consider these lessons:

PUBLIC HEARINGS — The Warren Commission went behind closed doors and did not come out for nine months. Then in one quick burst it poured out to the nation such a massive volume of fact and finding that few could digest and fewer still could master what it had to say. The Gallup polls continue to show that nearly two-thirds of the country does not accept its central conclusion.

The anti-riot commission will be a failure if most Americans do not accept its central conclusions. To insure against that failure, it ought to operate in the open just as much as possible. Obviously not all but many of its hearings ought to be public so that the very process of the investigation can be an instrument of public education.

PERIODIC REPORTS — The findings and proposals of the commission ought not to be just amassed when its work is done and hurled in a block at the country. This would be fatal. The need is to make the work of the commission a means for continuous and cumulative public education. I believe the commission ought to issue a series of public reports reflecting the information and insight it is gathering.

DETERRENCE — Some members of the commission believe that its work can have a deterrent effect on riots. This is why the commission released some of the testimony of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover suggesting that there was no visible conspiracy behind the rioting. But releasing scraps of testimony is not good enough. If the commission is to be a deterrent, it must put its own weight behind its releases and they need to be well documented.

CREDIBILITY — The Warren commissioners worked far harder than the tabulation of the amount of time they spent at meetings indicates. But when it became known that sometimes only one or two members were present at the taking of testimony, its report lost credibility. The witnesses before the anti-riot commission and the country deserve to have most of the commissioners present all the time to listen, question and weigh the evidence.

No group of American citizen has even been given such a crucial assignment since the Constitutional Convention.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

More A-To-Z Of Legislature: Education Was Money Winner

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The California legislature approved one of the largest increases in state support to public schools in history, just about an hour before it adjourned its seven-month session.

The legislation will provide $145 million in increased state support. The program actually totals some $169 million but the net cost to the state will be $145 million because districts will pick up $24 million under a 1966 change in the property assessment law.

Breakdown of the new money includes $141 million for equalization aid and supplementary support; $10 million for special reading program; $13 million for special education; $300,000 for a mathematics program, and $4.6 million for child care centers.

CONTINUING the A-to-Z of the 1967 session of the legislature:

E — Economies in several areas of government proposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan were opposed bitterly by many legislators. A bill to remove many of the state requirements as for Education curriculum was stalled because of a disagreement over whether physical education should be required daily.

F — A bill providing for issuance of tags for an extra limit of Fish (trout) was dropped by a Senate committee. The same happened to a bill to give the Fish and Game Commission jurisdiction over four species of ocean Fish — anchovies, sardines and Pacific and jack mackerel. Also into the legislative graveyard went a series of bills designed to tighten Forest practices of lumbering operations. Several bills making changes in control of Firearms were approved, the main one outlawing the carrying of loaded guns in public places.

G —A bill which would have removed matching money requirements for Gasoline tax reverted to cities and counties for the select system of streets and roads cleared the Assembly but was stifled in a Senate committee. The Gift tax was increased.

H — DESPITE reapportionment giving control of both houses to Southern California, a proposal to give the southern counties a bigger share of Highway user taxes failed in the Senate. A bill which was signed into law by Governor Reagan adds considerably to the number of Horse racing days at state tracks.

I —Another in a series of moves to abolish appointment of state Inheritance tax appraisers by the state controller failed, despite strong support from State Controller Houston I. Flournoy. The state personal Income tax was boosted by an average of about 70 per cent.

J — Governor Reagan's plans to revamp the procedure for appointment of Judges failed to win approval. Three bills of major importance to Junior colleges were passed. They would establish a new governing board for the colleges, put a $65 million bond issue on the June, 1968, ballot for junior college capital outlay, and set up a new formula for allocation of junior college bond funds.

L — WHILE the session was slow for many subjects, it resulted in some major legislation on Liquor licensing. One bill would permit the transfer of off-sale general liquor licenses into fast-growing counties; another increased the state fees for liquor and beer licenses; the industry was tagged for an additional tax of 50 cents per gallon on distilled spirits. In the crime area, a bill was approved which made it illegal to sell substances claimed to be LSD.

M — The Mental hygiene furore, over Reagan's plan to chop positions from the hospitals, carried over into several bills but few were approved. Also down the drain went a series of bills setting up new standards of safety for Motorcycle operators. Legislation was approved to finance the MediCal program through the next year but there were estimates the program was costing $150 million a year more than expected. A major Milk pooling bill was approved, which will equalize payments to producers for the milk they produce, whether it's sold as fresh milk or for manufacturing.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A half dozen top-ranking Congressmen had a secret meeting at an exclusive Washington club to decide strategy for beating a bill they all detested. As they got down to brass tacks, they noticed that the waiter took a station near the door. Furthermore, he flatly refused to leave. "If you don't vamoose immediately," thundered one red-faced congressman, "I will report your insubordination to the manager of this club." "It was the manager who ordered me to STAY here," replied the unperturbed waiter. "He's holding me responsible for the silverware."

WEBSTER DEFINED:

Fireproof: The boss's wife's lazy, incompetent brother.

Guillotine: A French chopping center.

Home: A place where a husband can do exactly what he pleases — if he doesn't mind a lot of arguments.

Government Hiring Negro Gang Chiefs

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Unless Congress steps in and stops the bold experiment, militant Negro gang leaders will soon be on the federal payroll as "teachers and instructors" in the anti-poverty program.

Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity has flashed the green light for recruiting these teenage militants from the big city ghettos as part of the administration's new anti-riot plan.

First of these revolutionary OEO programs is scheduled to get under way later this month in Chicago, where Shriver has approved a $927,000 anti-poverty grant to employ leaders and members of the militant Blackstone Rangers and Eastside Disciples, two of the Windy City's big South Side Negro gangs.

UNDER PLANS worked out with the help of the Woodlawn Organization, a politically powerful South Side community group, more than 30 of the gang leaders will be hired at salaries ranging from $5,000 to $7,500 a year to handle job training for hundreds of other gang members and Negro youths.

Stated OEO purpose for this experimental recruitment program, soon to be duplicated in Washington, D.C., Cleveland and other large cities, is to determine if these gang leaders can do what others have been unable to accomplish — teach militant Negro youths how to get and keep jobs.

The Negro gang leaders are being picked for the job, according to OEO officials, because they can control and influence the other militant Negro teen-agers. Keeping these gangs together and occupied, OEO authorities believe, will keep them from getting involved in future racial riots.

FEDERALIZED GANGS — In addition to being employed as teachers, the militant gang leaders will serve as assistant directors on the projects and will direct training centers to be established with the federal funds.

Gang members, who will be offered courses ranging from reading and writing to learning how to apply for a job, will receive $40 a week during their 4 to 15 weeks training period.

Investigators of the House Labor Committee, who discovered the OEO project while checking on charges of anti-poverty workers' involvement in recent riots, are highly skeptical of what will come out of this radical demonstration program.

In their meetings with local community and youth workers, the probers were warned that the projects could easily backfire on the OEO and disturb other youth programs in the community.

"You can't solve the Negro gang problem," one Chicago community leader told the congressional investigators, "by putting their leaders on the federal payroll to train other gang members. All the government is doing is giving these gang leaders new prestige, increasing their influence, and admitting that crime pays."

Because of the growing criticism of the anti-poverty programs in Congress, Shriver directed publicity for the radical gang projects be limited, if possible, to cities where they are being launched.

Gang leaders involved in the experiments have been told to play it cool, hold no press conferences, discuss the projects with no outsiders.

REMEMBER WHEN?

20 YEARS AGO

Louise A. Boyd's "Reticulata" blossom won the coveted prize for "Best Bloom in Show" at the fourth annual camellia show at the Bank of San Rafael.

R. J. Stull, consultant for Marin County Hospital District, recommedned construction of a $1.5 million, 120-bed hospital within a four-mile radius of the Corte Madera junction.

Marin County Real Estate Board members favored acquisition and development of the abandoned Northwestern Pacific Railroad rights-of-way in Ross Valley and San Rafael areas for highways.

Sausalito City Council called off an election on annexation of Marin City after learning that annexation petitions fell short by 50 signatures.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Anonymous Backer Puts Young Ball Players On Road To Title

On Thursday, the Babe Ruth All-Stars will leave for Fairbanks, Alaska, to compete for the world championship. This is the first time that a team from Marin County has gone that far in amateur baseball competition. They reached that by being the top team in two eliminations tournaments, one at Auburn and one at El Segundo.

The team now represents more than just Novato or Marin County. It represents all of California, Nevada, Utah, Arizon and Hawaii. The very fact that it has gone this far should make the team the pride of the entire county.

NOVATO SUDDENLY blossomed into the boy's baseball capital of the bay area this summer. It was almost more than the sports department at the Independent-Journal could do to keep up with all the Novato teams that were playing in tournaments.

All of this cost money and the Novato leagues were not used to it. Behind the success of the teams there is a strong story. It reminds me of the lost names in history — those men who poured out their personal fortunes to finance the revolution before the government had the taxing power to get its money.

Someone — and that person must really like boys — donated $2,000 to the Babe Ruth League to carry its three teams to the tournaments. This anonymous donor wanted to see the boys go ahead, so gave this large gift.

Tracy Rundle, who obtained the gift for the league, said it was used to send the Babe Ruth Senior All-Stars to Auburn and El Segundo, the junior all-stars to Salinas, and the American Legion team to a tournament in Woodland.

This financial help went a long way in boosting the boys' morale. It furnished them needed equipment. Besides, it gave them the knowledge that someone cared enough to give that amount of money. Surely it added to their incentive to win.

Whoever he is, the boys of Novato and its citizens owe him a very big debt of gratitude.

AS ALL THINGS, that money disappeared. Now the Babe Ruth League is taking up a collection to help with the expenses of sending the boys to Fairbanks.

Civic organizations and individuals are donating to the fund to buy equipment and other things for their team before it goes on to world competition.

Officials of the Babe Ruth League say that if they have any money, left, it will go into the treasury for next year. The drive started off with a bang, but it yet remains to be seen whether the full $1,500 which the managers think necessary will be raised. We hope that it is, so the boys will feel that the entire community is behind them.

Fatter Padding For New Autos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Highway Administration has modified its safety standards for new car interiors following a decision that the original standards would be impossible to meet.

Under the modified order, which applies to cars made after Jan. 1, 1968, increased padding will be required for instrument panels and seat backs, more arm rests will be added and energy-absorbing sun visors will be mandatory. The original order had also specified extra knee and leg impact protection and changes in the interior handles and knobs.

The agency also announced it will meet Aug. 18 with prospective bidders on a contract for planning of a program to develop experimental cars for safety research.

ART BUCHWALD

Italians Pinched The Record When Liz Taylor Roamed Rome

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Art Buchwald is taking a few days off, we are printing some of the memorable moments of his life when he was in Europe.)

ROME —There were many ways to see the 1960 Olympic Games. One of the most interesting ways, but also the most dangerous, was to go to one of the events with Miss Elizabeth Taylor.

The actress stopped off in Rome with her then husband, Mr. Eddie Fisher, and her doctor, Rex Kennamer. Although the Italians love sports, they love women more and Miss Taylor received her share of admiration from the hot-blooded Romans.

Because of the heat, she had only been attending the evening events, mostly water polo. It wasn't that Miss Taylor was a great water polo enthusiast. It was just that by the time she got ready, water polo was the only sport still going on.

ONE NIGHT I was invited to attend the water polo matches with her, and it was quite an event — not the water polo, but going with her.

When we arrived at the swimming stadium the crowds immediately recognized her and surged forward. Helpful hands reached out and touched her and Miss Taylor shouted to Mr. Fisher, "Someone touched my chest."

"Who?" Mr. Fisher wanted to know.

All the Italians around us held up their hands to show it wasn't them. We moved forward slowly and suddenly Miss Taylor yelled again, "Someone is pinching me."

Mr. Fisher shouted, "Who?"

"I don't know," she shouted. "I'm being pinched in the back."

"Where?" the doctor wanted to know.

"You know where," Miss Taylor said.

"Bella, bella," the Italians shouted.

MR. FISHER YELLED to me, "You protect her in the back, I'll protect her in the front, and the Doc can take the flanks."

The flanks at this point were the most vulnerable, and not only to the Italians, but players from Spain and France had joined the sport.

The scoring, I figured out later, went something like this: a pinch on the lower part of Miss Taylor's flanks was worth one point. On the lower part of her back was three points and on her chest, which in Italy is the equivalent of a touchdown, was worth six points.

Since I was covering the rear, I had the job of being the goalie. In a sport of this kind, it is considered the toughest position on the field. Several fingers intended for Miss Taylor pinched me instead. "You are not allowed to pinch the goalie," I cried out in pain. But the officials were looking at Miss Taylor and paying no attention to me.

Slowly we made our way forward. The Italians had sent in substitutes and Miss Taylor screamed again, "They're still pinching me."

"Walk sideways," I suggested.

But this didn't work either, and the Italians were scoring all over the place.

AT THIS POINT the photographers joined in and they kept stopping us so that they could take pictures of the event — which was certainly an Olympic pinching record.

It must have been 25 minutes before someone finally blew a whistle. It turned out to be a policeman, and the game was over.

The final score, Mr. Fisher told me the next morning after making the tally, was 334 pinches and 12 touchdowns against the Americans, the worst beating the United states has every taken from Italy since the Olympic Games started.

Missing Teen-Ager Returns To Home

Robert Gene Fisher, 17, of 183 Crescent Drive, Novato, who had been missing since Tuesday, returned to his home Saturday night, according to Novato police.

Still missing and listed as runaways are Phillip Arthur Adcox, 15, who left his home at 1628 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, on July 25, and David R. Minard Jr., 15, who has been missing from his home at 5 Norma Court, Novato, since July 28, according to Novato police reports.

for about $1821*

Ford Motor Company's 3-point warranty plan gives you . . .

1. 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty on car power train, steering, and suspension.
2. 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire car.
3. Only one dealer certification per year regardless of how many miles you drive.

Ford Motor Company New Vehicle Warranty Basic Facts

Ford Motor Company warrants to owners that their selling Ford dealer (or if owner is traveling or has moved, any Ford dealer), using genuine new Ford or Ford authorized reconditioned parts, will repair or replace, free of charge including related labor, the following parts in Ford-built vehicles which are found, in normal use and within the following time and mileage limits (whichever comes first), to be defective in either workmanship or materials: (A) Any part of any vehicle within 24 months or 24,000 miles, and (B) power train parts in any car or light truck, and suspension or steering parts in any car (except Bronco), within 5 years or 50,000 miles.

Power train parts include: Engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission cases and internal parts, torque converter, driveshafts, universal joints, differentials, and driving axles and their wheel bearings. Suspension and steering parts include all parts of the front and rear suspension systems, steering gear and linkage, power steering pump, road wheels and front wheel bearings and seals. Related items such as ignition, electrical, cooling, fuel and brake systems, engine or transmission controls or linkages, steering column and wheel, clutch assembly, shock absorbers or load leveling system are excluded. The owner is required to obtain certain maintenance services* and, every 12 months, a written certification from Ford or Lincoln-Mercury dealer that he has presented evidence that such services have been performed.

The warranty does not apply to tires or tubes (adjustments are provided by tire companies), or to normal maintenance services or normal replacement of service parts such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades or brake or clutch linings, or to normal deterioration of soft trim, appearance items, hoses, belts or molded rubber or rubber-like items.

*Every 6 months or 6,000 miles: Change oil and oil filter; clean air cleaner, air filter and oil filler cap; check axle lube and transmission oil levels. Every 12 months or 12,000 miles: Replace air filter on sloped crankcase ventilation systems; clean emission system and carburetor spacer; replace emission control valve and thermactor air filter. Every 24 months or 24,000 miles: Change engine coolant and check radiator hoses. Every 36 months or 36,000 miles: Replace air filter on open crankcase ventilation systems; adjust automatic transmission bands; lubricate steering linkage and ball joints; clean and repack front wheel bearings.

*Price includes freight charges. Price is the average of those determined by an independent shopping survey (33⅓% of all Ford Dealers in San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose metropolitan area) conducted June 9 through June 15. Some prices were higher, some lower. See your Ford Dealer for his price and terms. (State taxes, license and title extra.)

And warranty protection is only one way Falcon builds peace of mind. Another is the availability of over 6,000 Ford Dealers where you can get expert service and genuine parts. Falcon also gives you ■ 6-passenger comfort ■ Thrifty 170-cu. in. Six ■ Greater weight for road-hugging strength and safety ■ Big-car trunk space ■ Wide range of safety features including dual braking system ■ 2-speed electric wipers ■ Front and rear seat belts, and many more.

Tiburon Council Faces $444,184 Budget Vote

Tiburon City Council will review for final adoption a budget of $444,184 for fiscal 1968 when it meets at 8 p.m. today at City Hall.

City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said he cut $10,025 out of operating expenses and $81,800 out of capital expenses requested by city departments before submitting a budget of $472,007 to the council's finance committee, Mayor John S. Hofmire and Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge.

The committee cut the total to $444,184. Cuts include a clerk for the police department ($5,100) and another maintenance man for the public works department ($6,252). The parks and recreation budget has been reduced from a requested $18,300 to $575.

Chairman Polly Smith has requested in writing that the council reconsider the last revision. "Our commission is willing to work very hard, but unless we have some funds to work with, it is a waste of our times and yours," wrote Mrs. Smith.

The council will consider a recommendation by City Engineer Ray W. Foreaker that a stop intersection be established at Hilary Drive and Avenida Miraflores in Del Mar Estates.

Some street lights installed by Frederick G. Zelinsky on Main Street which are easily damaged and have heavy fixtures with sharp spires on top will be considered for removal before they can cause personal or property damage.

Golden Gate Bridge Traffic Record Set

CRESCENT CITY — Traffic over the Golden Gate Bridge averaged 89,561 vehicles a day in July, up almost 5000 over July, 1966, Bridge Gen. Mgr. James Adam told directors at their meeting here yesterday.

A one-day record was set on Sunday, July 16, when 97,569 cars, trucks and busses passed the span's tollgates, Adam reported.

Tito Attempting To Find Solution To Mideast Peace

CAIRO (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito has begun visiting Socialist Arab countries involved directly in the war with Israel in an effort to help Arab leaders find an acceptable way out of the present deadlock over Israeli possession of territory captured in the war.

No immediate results are expected, but observers believe his mission will be a success if it brings the Arabs to reconsider and take what Tito called a more realistic approach toward a peace formula with the victorious Israelis.

Arab discussions so far have centered on "means of removing the traces of Israeli aggression."

Canyon Search For A Slayer

ALTADENA (AP) — Mounted policemen were searching the rugged Aroyo Seco Canyon on the western edge of this suburb of Los Angeles, following a trial they hope will lead to clues in the killing of two small sisters.

Specifically, sheriff's officers said they are searching for the blue denim jeans and khaki shorts which were worn by Roberta Ann Barili, 6, and her sister, Cecilia Renee, 7, when they disappeared Wednesday.

Their bodies were found Thursday, strangled and sexually molested, in a vacant lot in the Watts area of Los Angeles—25 miles from their Altadena home. They were clad only in blouses.

CONVERSATION takes over as Sherry and Janine pause at the Village Fair in Sausalito. Sherry's wearing a Sausalito sailor with matching bag in red tapistry and Janine's helmut is of green and blue felt. At right, Janine steps gingerly at water's edge in a beige cotton print minidress with matching bloomers.

HUNTING POSES no problem for these two as, armed with decoys, Janine, and Sherry model woolen ponchos of red and tan plaid and lavender trimmed with fringe.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Do Mrs. Poison-Tongue A Favor By Telling Her The Plain Truth

We're new here and my neighbor has me so upset that I've gone back to work just to avoid her. But she makes up for it on weekends.

She talks incessantly about the other neighbors: what awful housekeepers they are, how lazy. I have seen her come into a home and move lamps or chairs where she thinks they should be. She thinks she has exceptional taste in arrangements.

Everything she has is "expensive," and she tells you about it, implying what you have came from a garage sale.

She will donate outgrown clothes to friends and then embarrass them by telling everyone about it. She quotes Emily Post, Webster and House Beautiful verbatim when someone else pulls a blooper. But she thinks nothing of criticizing the food your serve.

She asks you to grocery shop for her, then rewards you with, "The vegetables were half rotten, and I'd never buy that kind of meat!"

Everyone else has slobs for friends and relatives, but hers are uppercrust.

I could go on and on but I'd be sounding much like she sounds to me.

I neither agree with her or disagree, as I'd like to remain friendly with my neighbors, but I can't take much more of this. Suggestions?—LADY NEXT DOOR

DEAR LADY:

With a friend like this, who needs arsenic?

You can be sure Mrs. Poison-Tongue has latched on to you because others won't listen. Do her a favor and tell her why. You can't lose, for you'll either make a new woman of her, or get rid of a pest.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Maybe you won't print this, but I'll bet many are in my same position.

My husband was what they call a "broken arrow" when he was in the army. He neglected me and the children, seldom wrote. When he came home after two years, everything was wrong with our once stable marriage.

Two months ago I discovered he had contracted VD several times and was not sure he was entirely cured when he got home. He said he'd been unfaithful from two weeks after he got there. That explains why he wouldn't let me join him overseas. He was at a good duty station and in no danger.

I was put through the embarrassment of lab tests and questions, which added to my hurt and shock.

He thinks I'm upset over "nothing," as "all the fellows played around, and it didn't mean anything, so how could it be called unfaithful?" His philosophy is, "You're not the only wife who has been cheated on." Yet if the situation had been reversed he'd have kicked me out.

I can't adjust, Helen. I can't stand to have him near me. I don't trust or respect him, and I'm full of bitterness. I'm a warm woman, a good mother, have kept myself attractive, but my pride is gone.

Should I get a job and leave him, or stay and risk a nervous breakdown?—SICK INSIDE

DEAR S.I.:

Feeling as you do, you can't stay: It would be disastrous for the children as well as for you and your husband.

Why not try a temporary separation until you can think things through? And by all means discuss the situation with a marriage counsellor.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

The vote didn't make women unfeminine: World War II did. Gals did man's work in defense factories, making weapons that would kill off more men, thus making it necessary to become more and more aggressive in an effort to catch the ones that were left. There aren't enough males to go around these days. Tarzan's shy, unassuming violet gets left in the corner while the "go" dames get their men. Why, I'll bet even "Tarzan" doesn't notice her!—WISE NOW

Richard Paulsen Jr. Claims Victoria L. Shank As Bride

St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Victoria Louise Shank and Richard Marius Paulsen Jr. of Fairfax.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Shank of Greenbrae, wore a full length cage gown of white Chantilly lace trimmed in seed pearls. Her sister, Gloria, wore an A-line gown of seakist blue linen as maid of honor. Bridesmaids Kitty Descalso and Carol Winters of San Rafael and Kathy Marcellin of San Anselmo were similarly dressed.

Dave Cericola of San Anselmo acted as best man and ushering for the noon nuptial mass were Ted Baptista of Vallejo, Lawrence Galassi of Fairfax and Dennis Hannigan of San Anselmo.

After a reception held at the bride's family home, the couple left on a wedding trip to Carmel. They will make their home in Fairfax on their return.

The bride, a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and College of Marin, is employed with Aetna Life and Casualty in San Francisco. Paul M. Ciria of the City is her grandfather.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Paulsen of Auburn. He attended Sir Francis Drake High School and College of Marin and is an employee of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael. Mrs. Ted Baptista of Vallejo is his sister.

Teen-Agers To Stage Own Design Showing

Marin teen-agers will see a preview of coming styles in a "Foretelling of Fall Fashions" show Wednesday at 1 p.m. on the greensward and around the pool of Maple Lawn in San Rafael.

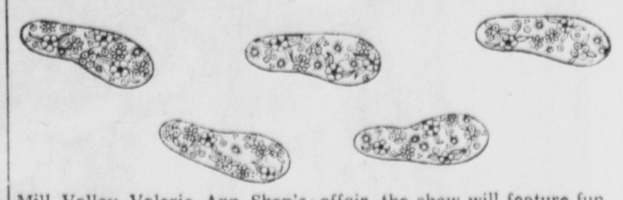
Staging the show as the major project of their fashion careers summer program will be the Mill Valley Valerie Ann Shop's top 20, a group of high school and college girls who are responsible for the design, quality control and custom work on the fashions for teen-agers by teen-agers.

It is also the first anniversary celebration of the venture headed by Vicki and Valerie Gross of Mill Valley.

The girls themselves will model more than 65 designs, including many top 20 originals and dresses made by the sew-it-yourself set in the shop's sewing school. "Assewciates" from the East Bay and San Joaquin Valley will have designs too.

There will be two awards for the girls — one for the top design to be judged by adult professionals and the other for the most popular design to be selected by the audience. There will also be an audience prize, which will be one of the two winning designs in the winner's size and choice of fabric.

More than a sit-on-the -grass affair, the show will feature fun, food and "Movin' Music" by the Wakefield Loop.



Booths around the grounds will display additional fashions and jewelry by local pre-teeners. Sewing school demonstrations will offer another diversion.

Adults serving in operational and supervisory capacities are Vicki and Valerie's mother, Mrs. Edmond Gross, manager, and Mrs. Slgar Hill, coordinator of the summer program.

Anderson-Clark Ceremony Performed At St. Raphael's

Wearing a candlelight ivory faille gown with lace applique, Charlotte Ann Clark of San Rafael became the bride of Gary Paul Anderson at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael Saturday afternoon.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sherman Clark of San Rafael, Charlotte had her sister, Kathleen, attend her as maid of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Richard Anderson of San Francisco and Linda Politano of San Rafael. They were gowned alike in mint green silk organza over maize taffeta in Empire style.

Edward J. Buckley Jr. of San Francisco served Gary as best man, and escorting guests to their seats were Gary's brother, Richard Anderson, and Kenneth Smith of Eureka.

A reception was held at the Magnolia Terrace of Maple Lawn, San Rafael. Stockton will be the home of the couple after they return from a Hawaiian wedding trip.

Charlotte is a graduate of both San Rafael High School and the College of Marin. Mrs. Carl W. Clark of San Rafael is her grandmother.

Gary was graduated from San Rafael Military Academy and is a senior in geology at University of Pacific. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Anderson of San Francisco.

Belvedere Supper Dance Set Friday

Belvedere residents have received inviations to the 18th annual Firemen's Ball at the San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere Friday. Dancing will be from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. A midnight supper will be served.

Making arrangements for the ball are members of the Belvedere Volunteer Fire Association. Albert H. Harris Jr., president, is chairman, O. R. Holm, Tom H. Eubanks, and James McGuiness, assistants. Lawrence "T. "Bunk" Mersereau, is Belvedere fire chief; George Coleman and Dr. Raymund Millzner, assistant chiefs.

Funds raised each year by the volunteers at the ball, which is their only fund-raising event, support activities of the volunteer fire department for which Belvedere city funds are not available. Proceeds from past balls have been used to furnish the firemen's meeting rooms and to purchase such as resuscitators and training equipment. The volunteers have also assisted with youth programs, including the Boys Club of Southern Marin and Tiburon Peninsula Little League teams.

Carol Wiesinger, George Courtney Exchange Vows

Carol Ann Wiesinger of Sausalito became the bride of George Courtney Stuckey Jr. of San Francisco Saturday in a noon ceremony at the Star of the Sea Catholic Church in Sausalito.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Wiesinger and sister of Marilyn Wiesinger of Sloansville, N.Y., all of whom were present.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. George Courtney Stuckey, who was present, and the late Dr. Stuckey of Lansing, Mich.

Best man was Robert Tillotson of Tamalpais Valley, and Hale Harrington of Napa showed guests to their seats.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito. On their return from a wedding trip to New Orleans and Jamaica the couple will live in Sausalito.

A graduate of high school in Schoharie, N.Y., the new Mrs. Stuckey is employed by United Airlines in San Francisco. Her husband was graduated from Michigan State University with a B.A. degree in economics and is employed by Union Carbide in San Francisco.

Corte Madera Club To Mark Anniversary

The 60th anniversary of the Corte Madera Women's Improvement Club will be marked with a celebration following the 10 a.m. meeting tomorrow.

Members will share a birthday cake with candles on the occasion. During the morning workshop, the members will work on articles for the annual Village Fair bazaar to be held in November.

Lola Clarkson Behr Plans October Rite In Sausalito

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Howell Behr of Mill Valley announced the engagement of their daughter, Lola Clarkson Behr, to Gerald Martin Haskins yesterday at a cocktail party at their home attended by 75 relatives and family friends.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Haskins of Tallahassee, Fla.

A wedding on Oct. 28 at Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito is planned.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Katharine Branson School and Stanford University, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. She is employed at Stanford Research Institute. She is the sister of Peter Behr Jr., a student at Yale University, and Trudie Behr, a student at Santa Catalina School.

Gerald was graduated from the University of Florida and is employed as a programmer with California Packing Company in San Francisco. He is the brother of Mary and Carl Haskins of Tallahassee.

Sandra Michael Exchanges Vows With Dennis P. Murr

Sandra Dale Michael, daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Gordon G. Michael of Novato was united in marriage to Dennis Powell Murr at the Protestant Chapel at Hamilton Air Force Base on Saturday.

The bride wore a white floor length gown of peau de soie with fitted bodice trimmed in re-embroidered Alencon lace with a cathedral train.

Mrs. Wallace Bruce of San Anselmo was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. William H. Murr of Marina Del Rey and Mrs. Paul T. Golis of Rohnert Park. The attendants wore matching empire style gowns of tangerine serrano with matching brocade jackets.

The bridegroom's brother, William H. Murr of Marina Del Rey was best man and ushers were Paul T. Golis of Rohnert Park and Donald W. Graham of Santa Rosa.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and was a June honor graduate at Sonoma State College. She will attend the University of California at Davis working toward a masters degree in genetics.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Murr of Santa Rosa are the bridegroom's parents. He was graduated from St. Peter's Preparatory School in New York, attended Kenyon College in Ohio and was graduated from Sonoma State, where he also received a secondary teaching credential and a master's degree in biology. He will attend U.C. at Davis to work toward a Ph.D.

The couple will reside in Davis.

Bogel-Hancock Wedding At Stewart Memorial Chapel

Exchanging wedding vows Saturday at Stewart Memorial Chapel at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo were Barbara Sue Hancock of San Rafael and Lawrence J. Bogel of Tiburon.

Barbara chose a white daisy lace Empire styled gown with silk organza train, and her attendants were gowned in Empire cherry pink crepe and lace dresses. They were Susan LaSalle of Tiburon as maid of honor, and Rosemary Bogel of Kentfield, the sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. Julie Jacobs of Walnut Creek.

Diane DeMont of San Rafael was the flower girl, and Michael Schalich of San Rafael was ring bearer.

George LaSalle of Tiburon served as best man, and the ushers were Robert and Stephen Bogel of Tiburon, Lawrence's brothers.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hancock of San Rafael, Barbara is a graduate of San Rafael High School and College of Marin's dental assisting program, and she is employed with Dr. Willard DeMont in Mill Valley. Phyllis Hancock, who is a teacher in Europe, is her sister.

Lawrence is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bogel of Tiburon. A Redwood High School graduate, he attended College of Marin. He is an engineer with the Tiburon Fire Dept. Mrs. T. M. Ryan of Bangor, Wash. is his sister, and Mrs. Henry Bogel of San Francisco is his grandmother.

Professors Harp On Research Cuts

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — The University of California is reeling under the impact of cuts in its scientific research budget. The cuts — amounting to about 17 per cent of all nonagricultural research — are so severe they would endanger the university's reputation if continued much past this year.

This picture was drawn by Dr. Mark F. Ferber, the university's special assistant for governmental relations in Washington. He described the situation as desperate.

CRISIS OR TREND?

"If this is a one-year crisis, university research can sustain itself," said Dr. Ferber. "But if it's a trend, we can look the nationwide and worldwide forward to a deterioration of impact of the University of California."

Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration this year slashed $3 million — a 10 per cent cut — from "organized research," which refers to those university groups, such as the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, whose main function is research rather than instruction.

Because every dollar of state research money means several dollars in Federal matching funds, universty officials estimate the true loss to be in the neighborhood of $10 million.

Moreover, disproportionate amount of the loss must be borne by the nonagricultural sciences.

FARM WORK

Agricultural research takes up to 70 per cent of the university's total organized research budget. But under pressure from powerful farming interests, the state ruled that only a quarter of the cutback could be made in agricultural research.

In its search for new financial sources, the university is thinking of charging California farmers for services rendered by its experimental stations.

But barring new funds, some scientific groups will suffer as much as a 25 per cent cut, according to Dr. Roger W. Heyns, chancellor at the Berkeley campus. Among the institutes due to be most seriously affected at Berkeley, Dr. Heyns named: Ths Iistitute of Governmental Studies, the Virus Laboratory, the Seismographic Stations and the Institute of Human Development.

"In the past," said Dr. Ferber, "we felt people understood what a quality university was all about. For years the University of California has been the best state university in the nation and one of the five or eight leading universities in the world, mainly because of its research.

WHY IT'S GREAT

"The university is great because the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory attracts Nobel laureates, because it can put together an Institute for Modern Languages. It's great in oceanography because of Scripps" (which has been trimmed by $350,000).

But this stature is now threatened.

Dr. Ferber said that so far there has not been a notable loss of scientific talent, but that recruitment has been impeded to some extent.

Husband's Skill As Fix-It Man Branded A Myth

NEW YORK (UPI)—The belief that the American husband is a mechanical whiz has been discredited by a nationwide survey conducted by a manufacturer of repair materials.

Responses from 1,000 households queried show that more than half of all home repairs are done by women, and that seven out of 10 families encourage the children to help, the survey showed.

What's Dad's excuse for avoiding work? Seems that he doesn't have time (67 per cent), or doesn't know how (22 per cent) or conveniently forgets (11 per cent).

Oak Ridge Develops Automated Shaver

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI)—The Oak Ridge National Laboratory has developed semi-automatic equipment which can produce whisper-thin specimens from bulk radioactive materials in 30 minutes, a saving of several hours compared with other processes.

The specimens are used in making studies of the internal structure of metals and other materials. Operators of the equipment, because of its semi-automatic nature, are freed for other duties.

A parakeet will eat nearly 100 times its weight annually. This is comparable to 45 pounds of food eaten daily by man.

Cliff-Hanging House Family Has No Suburbia Problems

But it's just the opposite for the Joseph Grzesiaks. Their 11-room home has been turned into an island-like cliff house by the earth gobbling machines excavating for part of the Ventura Freeway.

It's now a 45-foot plunge from their front yard to the roadbed and their driveway no longer goes to the street—Hill Drive, by the way.

So they park the family car below in a church parking lot and trudge about 100 yards along another dropoff, a 20-foot-high ridge that used to be the patio.

"I guess we'll stay here," Grzesiak says. "The view is fine and the living is good."

That view includes a gaping hole destined to become an interchange and, to the east, a giant slice in a hill for another road.

He's promised the postman he'll put up a mailbox down on the road to save the long hike to the house.

The Grzesiaks ultimately will be relinked with the rest of the world. The driveway, irrevocably cut off from Hill Road, will be connected to Harvey Drive, now torn up for re-alignment. Harvey Drive, unhappily is 20 feet lower than the house, but Grzesiak says he thinks that somehow he can tie into it from his back yard.

The stranded homeowner says his family of nine has lived there eight years and they don't plan to move — unless the freeway gets too noisy.

"They come down a lot more now that all the hill has been torn down and the houses are gone.

"It's common to see three or four of them sitting in our back yard late at night."

And the family has fewer neighbors. Their homes were demolished for the freeway project. The state needed only a strip of land on two sides of Grzesiak's lot, not his home.

Industry's Workers Ready to Volunteer

HARRISON, N.J. (UPI)—If The employees of one large industrial firm are typical of the nation's general populace, this may be the age of "The Volunteer Society."

A survey conducted by Worthington Corp. on the off-the-job activities of its 16,000 U.S. employees showed that in 1966 they donated more than 400,000 hours of their time to various civic and charitable projects. The volunteer work ranged from aiding in voter registration drives to transcribing books in Braille for the blind.

New York State produces more than 45 per cent of the nation's leather gloves.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, AUGUST 14, 1967 17

A LOFTY PERCH — Harbor Point residents say their homes—like this one designed by Henrik Bull for John Bricker—have been built with affectionate respect for the unusual terrain and woods of their community.

TREES DOOMED?—Homeowners at Harbor Point complain that almost all these trees would have to go to make room for five houses developer would fit between these two waterfront homes.

Harbor Point Residents Staging Fight In Development Proposal

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

Homeowners on Tiburon Peninsula's Harbor Point, resisting a development plan for their hilly and wooded community, will stage the latest round in their two-year-long fight tomorrow before the board of supervisors.

The homeowners will ask supervisors to instruct the planning department not even to consider a proposal by San Francisco developer Stanley W. Tayor to subdivide 12 lots into 21. They argue this would increase density, harm property values and add to traffic, fire and police protection problems.

SLOPE POLICIES

At issue is which of two county slope policies applies to the area. Taylor told the county planning commission July 24 that policy No. 2 applied under the Tiburon Peninsula master plan,. This would permit 10,000-square-foot lots with a 98-foot width. He submitted plans for average lot sized of 15,000 square feet with 98-foot width.

Homeowners argued for slope policy No. 1, establishing minimum 20,000-square-foot lots, 115 feet wide.

The planning commission postponed decision until Aug. 31 and told Taylor to work with the planning department on his proposed development and come back with plans the commission can evaluate.

FINGER OF LAND

The supervisors will be asked tomorrow, in a petition signed by six homeowners, to rule that policy No. 1 applies. Harbor Point is a 23-acre finger of land, beautiful, and rural, adjacent to Strawberry Point on one side and to the Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary on the other side. Tall Eucalyptus trees line East Strawberry Drive, the main street.

If Taylor chops down stands of Eucalyptus trees for development of his property, homeowners fear the loss of trees will not only detract from the beauty and value of the area, but also might change the climate on the point and lessen the value of the bird sanctuary. The trees,they, say, break the wind that sweeps over the hill by lifting it above homes and the sanctuary property.

TWO RETREATS

There are 14 homes on the point, in addition to two retreats for Roman Catholic nuns. The house used by the Sisters of the Holy Family was given to their order by Dr. Benjamin Lyford at the turn of the century. The Sisters of Mercy retreat has been there almost as long.

The Harbor Point area was originally laid out by developer Samuel R. Neider in 1956 to include 46 lots and a recreation area. Lots avrage 32,000 feet on the waterfront and about 20,000 feet on the uphill side, homeowners say. Home values range from $75,000 to $150,000, they say.

When Neider died, the property was taken over by Milland Development Co. Remaining lots were sold to Taylor in January in 1965. That May, when Taylor started grading his lots, a new homeowner tried to prevent a tree from being cut, later sat on it in protest. She said then her lot and house were valued at $80,000.

STEEP CUTS

That incident led to series of interchanges between homeowners and Taylor before the planning commission, the board of supervisors and several court trials.

Homeowners charge Taylor made steep cuts in the land without regard for the county's excavation ordinances, removing trees even from lots owned by others until the supervisors ordered sheriff's deputies to remove Taylor's equipment from the land.

Harbor Point residents claim they have taken extreme care to fit houses to lots. One new home built over a railroad track is supported by cantilevered steel beams. All uphill waterfront lots have easements through downhill property to their docks.

In their appeal to the supervisors, to be heard tomorrow, six property owners claim that "further resubdivision of individual lots will change the entire character of the neighborhood and throw the are open to land speculators."

HILLY LOTS

They refer to the Tiburon Peninsula Master plan's land division ordinance, which provides for "reasonable building sites consistent with terrain, preservation of vegetation, community compatibility and proper vehicular access." Almost all lots on the Point are steep and hilly.

The appeal was filed by San Francisco attorney Paul W. McComish and signed by Vernon I. Dwelly, Joseph Del Valle, Jr., John K. Jewett, John Kahl, Raymond Kaliski and Eugene Kuasnikov.

Homeowners have also written to other improvement associations in the county, asking their support, because "a decision against our case might mean a similar practice of eroding our planning controls that might be applied to your neighborhood sometime in the future."

Charges Filed On Marijuana

A routine investigation of a traffic violation by Fairfax police Saturday, led to the arrest of an 18-year-old Tamalpais Valley youth on suspicion of possessing marijuana.

James Paul DanSaden og 600 Northern Avenue, was stopped at 4:40 a.m. on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Oak Manor Drive by Officer Myron MacNeil, when he found no license plate on the front bumper.

When the youth failed to show a driver's license, MacNeil said he searched the vehicle and found three small packages of seeds and stems, believed to be marijuana, and a pipe, said to be used for smoking the weed.

DanSaden was booked at the county jail on suspicion of possession of narcotics, narcotics paraphernalia and driving without a license. He was being held this morning in lieu of $550 bail.

Crash Is Fatal

UKIAH (AP) — Bobby Gene Lee, 32, of Petaluma, died in a Ukiah hospital last night of injuries received in an auto crash yesterday on the Booneville-Ukiah road. Lee's car rolled 100 feet down an embankment and struck an oak tree. He was alone.

Inverness Man Hurt In Wreck

An Inverness man was badly injured at 9:30 p.m. yesterday on Shoreline Highway, four miles south of Marshall.

David Harold Chapman, 28, who works for James Boothers Circus, was heading south when his car swerved off a curve, crossed the shoulder, went through a barbed wire fence in front of Synanon House and then hit two trees, California Highway Patrol reported.

He was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with fractured ribs and a bruised back.

Injuries Minor In Collision

California Highway Patrol reported the camper, driven by Arlo Berry Hendricks, 38, of 90 Toyon Drive, Fairfax, braked as traffic slowed ahead at 2:25 p.m., but his car swerved sideways in the slow lane.

It was struck by a San Francisco Examiner delivery truck driven by John Raymond Daly, 63, of San Carlos. The impact pushed Hendricks truck across the highway into the center divider fence, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Out Of Hospital

Richard A. Shomaker, 33, of 9 Carlson Avenue, San Anselmo, was released from Marin General Hospital Satuday, where he had been since Aug. 1 when he suffered broken ribs and chest injuries in an auto accident on Waldo Grade, Highway 101.

A New Wrinkle In Car Thievery

Sausalito police reported a new trick today in auto thievery. That is, "May I borrow your car so that I can save my parking place?"

Clarence H. Hobbs of 145 Prospect Avenue told officers Friday that a man came up to him and said he wanted to show him his automobile, a 1966 Pontiac, parked on El Portal.

After showing Hobbs the car, the man said he didn't want to lose his parking place on busy El Portal and asked to borrow Hobbs car, a 1967 Chevrolet Impala station wagon. Hobbs lent the car and has not seen it since.

The 1966 Pontiac, Police learned, was stolen from Jack Erthal of Hollywood, apparently by the same man who stole Hobb's car.

Police also reported that at 11:10 p.m., Saturday, three men jumped into a car, parked at Ondine Restaurant parking lot, apparently in an attempt to steal it. The attendant spotted the men and at this time the men jumped out of the moving car and ran.

The car continued to roll forward and rammed into the rear end of a car owned by Police Sgt. Howard Goerndt, damaging it. The car was being used by Goerndt's son. Owner of the other car was not disclosed.

Jewelry Among Items Stolen

A burglar took more than $200 worth of jewelry and furnishings Saturday night from the residence of Robert C. Anderson of 224 Laurel Place, San Rafael police said today.

Stolen were two tape recorders, a girl's wallet, four rings, two trading stamp books, a pair of sandals and two recording tapes.

Capital Outlay To Be Studied

The Corte Madera Planning Commission will consider long-range capital improvements in the town general plan today at 7:30 p.m. at town hall.

John V. Gates will be sworn in as a planning commissioner, replacing Norm V. Eaton. The commission will review a parking plan for the Paradise Shopping Center and a tentative map for subdivisions of the Seaside unit of one property on Paradise Drive.

Dr. and Mrs. Marshall D. Matthews seek to use their home at 109 Harbor Drive as a receiving home for a maximum of four children. The commission will review the plans of the Corte Madera Lions Club for an addition to the Corte Madera Recreation Center and Arthur M. Sestak's plan for an addition to his home at 271 Corte Madera Avenue.

The moon is between the first and full stage. The morning star is Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

Born on this day in 1867 was British author John Galsworthy.

On this day in history:

In 1945, at 7:00 p.m. Eastern War Time, President Truman announced that Japan had accepted terms of an unconditional surrender.

A thought for the day — British author John Galsworthy once said: "Justice is a machine, that, when someone has given it the starting push, rolls on by itself."

TIME AND TIDE

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Forget Rule About Never Trumping Partner's Trick

"I've learned two rules for defensive play," a friend bragged recently. "The first is never to trump my partner's trick, and the second is to save an ace until it can capture a high card. Give me a third rule." That was easy. "Forget the first two rules," I told him.

HEART LEAD

West opened the seven of hearts, and East took the ace and returned a heart. South won with the king of hearts, discarding a club from dummy.

Declarer got to dummy with a diamond and returned a low trump, winning with the queen when East played low.

South continued with a trump, allowing West to hold the trick with the jack. West returned the deuce of clubs, and declarer won in dummy with the ace of clubs, cashed the ace of diamonds and led a low diamond from dummy.

READS SIGNAL

West had signaled strength in diamonds by playing the six first and then the deuce, so East discarded a heart. South ruffed the diamond, cashed the queen and jack of hearts to discard dummy's remaining clubs and ruffed a club in dummy. East could get only his ace of trumps and South scored game and rubber.

SHOULD DEFEAT

East should defeat the contract, of course, by breaking both defensive rules on the same trick. When declarer leads the third round of diamonds from the dummy East must ruff his partner's trick with the ace of trumps!

This enables East to cash the king of clubs, the setting trick, before South can discard the clubs from dummy.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 8 5 4
♡ K Q J 5
♦ 7 3
♣ J 9 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards. If he bids a major suit, you will raise that suit to game. If partner denies a major by bidding two diamonds you will bid three notrump.

In Thailand it is considered that every plot of ground has a spirit. When one builds a house, one must give the spirit a house to live in, out of doors, in the east corner. Driving the spirit away would bring misfortune.

You should know these FACTS about HOME BUYING in today's market . . .

THERE IS A WIDE SELECTION OF EXCELLENT HOME BUYS ON THE MARKET NOW!

Even though money for home financing IS available, it is not as plentiful as in the past. The result is that there are many fine homes available at very attractive prices. This is a GOOD TIME TO BUY. Financing is available, and prices and interest rates will probably climb further in the future. Don't give up on the home you need. Let's talk it over and see what can be worked out.

REMEMBER:
Multiple Listing is the fastest way to find the home of your choice . . .

ORDINANCE NO 1602
AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ADDING SECTION 19.04.155 TO THE MARIN COUNTY CODE PROVIDING FOR AMENDMENT OF SECTION 408 AND 420 OF THE UNIFORM BUILDING CODE

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO HEREBY ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I. Section 19.04.155 is hereby added to the Marin County Code to read as follows:

19.04.155. In the Uniform Building Code adopted by Section 19.04.085 the following is added to Section 408 and 420 of the Uniform Building Code: Section 408. "GRADE (Adjacent Ground Elevation) is the lowest point of elevation of the finished surface of the ground between the exterior wall of a building and a point five feet (5') distant from said wall, or the lowest point of elevation of the finished surface of the ground between the exterior wall of a building and the property line if it is less than five feet (5') distant from said wall. In case walls are parallel to and within five feet (5') of a public sidewalk, alley or other public way, the grade shall be the elevation of the sidewalk, alley or public way." Section 420. "STORY is that portion of a building between the upper surface of any floor and the upper surface of the floor next above, except that the topmost story shall be that portion of a building included between the upper surface of the topmost floor and the ceiling or roof above. If the finished floor level directly above a basement, cellar or unused underfloor space is more than six feet (6') above grade as defined herein for more than 50 per cent of the total perimeter or is more than twelve (12') above grade as defined herein at any point, such basement, cellar or unused underfloor space shall be considered as a story."

SECTION II. Effective Date. This ordinance shall be and is hereby declared to be in full force and effect as of thirty days from and after the date of its passage and shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage with the names of the Supervisors voting for and against the same in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation, published in the County of Marin.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted on the 8th day of August, 1967, by the following vote:

SAN RAFAEL SANITATION DISTRICT MARIN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the San Rafael Sanitation District, Marin County, California, will receive bids for furnishing all materials, labor and services for the construction of Sewage Works Additions. Each bid shall be in accordance with the plans, specifications, and other contract documents now on file with the District Engineer, City Hall, San Rafael, California, where they may be examined and where copies may be obtained upon deposit of fifteen dollars ($15.00) per set, ten dollars ($10.00) of which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such sets in good condition within ten (10) days after the bids are opened.

All bids will be compared on the basis of the lump sum prices bid for the work to be done.

Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code of the State of California, the District Board of the San Rafael Sanitation District, California, has ascertained the general prevailing rate of hourly wages and rates for legal holidays, and overtime work in the locality where this work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workmen or mechanic needed to execute the contract which will be awarded the successful bidder. The prevailing rates so determined by the District Board are on file with the District.

In addition, bidders are hereby notified that the United States Department of Interior will make a contribution to the costs of the work covered by this contract. Accordingly, this contract shall contain certain special requirements as set forth in the contract documents. Included as part of specifications and Federal requirements is the schedule of Wage Determinations of the Secretary of Labor and it shall be incumbent upon the successful bidder to pay the minimum hourly wages required to be paid to the various laborers and mechanics employed directly upon the site of the work, and in case of conflict with the prevailing rates determined by the District Board, the maximum rate shall prevail. In addition, bidders on the work are hereby informed that they will be required to comply with the President's Executive Order No. 11114 and the provisions of Executive Order No. 10925 as included herein. The requirements for bidders and contractors under this order are explained in the specifications and the Wage Determinations of the Secretary of Labor are set forth therein.

Each bid shall be made out on a bid form to be obtained at the Office of the District Engineer, City Hall, 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, in conjunction with the contract documents.

Each bid shall be made out on a form to be obtained at the office of the District Engineer; shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for not less than ten per cent. (10%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of San Rafael Sanitation District; shall be sealed and filed with the said District Engineer on or before September 7, 1967, at 5:00 P.M., and will be opened and publicly read aloud at about that time in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, City of San Rafael.

By order of the District Board of the San Rafael Sanitation District made the 3rd day of August, 1967.

* * • • SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

Saturn Will Be Visible Next Month

By SCIENCE SERVICE

For the first time in many months the planet Saturn is now visible all evening and, in fact, all night. As soon as twilight ends, you can see it low in the eastern sky.

The accompanying maps show the sky as it appears about 11 p.m., Pacific Daylight Saving Time at the beginning of September; about 10 p.m. at midmonth; and 9 p.m. at the end. By these times Saturn is well up, in the constellation of Pisces, the fishes.

Mars also is visible, but sets before these times, so the maps do not show it. Early in the evening you can see Scorpius, the scorpion, in the south to the right of Sagittarius. And Libra, the scales, is to the right of Scorpius. Mars this month is moving from Libra into Scorpius.

Actually Mars is very slightly brighter than Saturn at present. However, it looks fainter because it is so low in the sky that the earth's atmosphere absorbs much of its light.

Vega, high in the west, in Lyra, the lyre, is the brightest star now visible. Just east of it — nearly overhead — stands Cygnus, the swan, with Deneb, a first magnitude star. Below it, toward the southwest, is Altair, in Aquila, the eagle.

Near the horizon, the west-northwest, stands Arcturus, in Bootes, the herdsman, another star that is dimmed because of its low altitude. This also is true for Capella, which is in Auriga, the charioteer, near the northeastern horizon.

Arcturus, which shone brilliantly in the late spring and early summer, is about to vanish from the evening sky. Capella is coming into it, and will be very prominent in early winter.

Toward the east, about 45 degrees above the horizon, is the "Great Square" of Pegasus, the winged horse, which is balanced on one corner. Three of the stars that form it are in Pegasus; the fourth is in the neighboring constellation of Andromeda, the chained lady.

If you look toward the east an hour or so before sunrise you will see Jupiter, shining more brightly than any of the stars around it. After the middle of the month, it will soon be followed by Venus, even more brilliant. Both planets were prominent in the evening sky in early summer.

On Sept. 23, at 11:38 a.m., PDT, the sun will be directly over a point on the equator, in the Indian Ocean, east of Sumatra. This is the equinox. It marks the beginning of autumn for us — and of spring for residents of the southern hemisphere.

Saturn, now visible in the evening sky, is famous because of its unique system of rings, which are really a vast swarm of tiny satellites, going around the planet together. They form a ring-shaped sheet with an outside diameter of about 170,000 miles and a width of 38,000 miles. But the system is very thin — 10 miles or less. You can not see these rings with the naked eye; you need a telescope to view them.

When Saturn was prominent a year ago, the rings were barely visible, even with a telescope, because they were presented to us edgewise. Now, as Saturn has moved along in its 29.5-year circuit of the sun, the rings are opening up. In a few years we will be well away from their plane, and will see them distinctly as rings.

On Monday, Sept. 18, the moon will be full. It will be interesting to check the time of its rising on successive nights around this date. On Sunday evening, over much of the U. S., it will rise about 7:00 p.m., daylight time, near the time of sunset. On Monday evening it will rise 21 minutes later (at 40 degrees north latitude), and on Tuesday 19 minutes later than on Monday.

Compare these with the rising times six months ago. The moon was full on Saturday, March 25. Then it rose about 5:55 p.m., one hour and 18 minutes later than on Friday night.

A similar effect occurs every year. In March, near the beginning of spring, the full moon is delayed longest in its rising time from one night to the next. But in September it rises for several nights in a row at nearly the same time.

This is the time of year when farmers are bringing in their harvest, and they have lots of moonlight to help them work at night. The September full moon is therefore called the Harvest Moon.

The reason is that the moon, like the sun, moves northward and then southward in the sky, and then toward the north again. It follows a line around the sky called the ecliptic. The moon goes around monthly, and never strays far from the ecliptic.

In September the ecliptic extends low across the southern sky in early evening, and makes a small angle with the eastern horizon. But in March it goes high into the sky and makes a large angle with the eastern horizon.

Although the moon moves about the same distance eastward along the ecliptic every 24 hours in March as in September, the delay in rising varies greatly. Twenty-four hours after it rises on Sept. 18, 1967, it is only a little farther below the eastern horizon than it was the previous night — rising 19 minutes later.

But last March it was plunging almost straight down behind the horizon. It rose at 5:55 p.m. on March 25, but on the 26th it was still well below the horizon and took an extra hour and 18 minutes to rise again.

Calf's Heart Valve Is Working Perfectly

WASHINGTON (SS) — A 38-year-old New Yorker walks around today with a calf's heart valve functioning in place of his own.

The operation, first in the city, replaced a valve damaged by rheumatic fever. The patient has been discharged, three weeks after surgery.

The operation was done by two surgeons on the staff of New York Medical College, who performed the surgery at Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospital after two and a half years of research and trials on more than 100 calves.

Others who have done valve replacements include Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel and his collaborators at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., who now have a perfected an artificial trileaflet heart valve after more or less successful replacements with earlier teflon valves.

Dr. John Kirklin of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., has used valves of recently dead humans with 50 patients, and others have used animal valves.

The New York physicians believe there are several advantages in replacing a hopelessly damaged valve with that of a calf rather than a hard-to-get human valve or with plastics.

Calf valves are plentiful and nearly identical in composition and structure to the patient's own normal valve.

The National Heart Institute has supported the New York research for two years. An official there said the calf valve appears to have no "foreign-body" reaction.

Some of the earlier plastic valves had an adverse effect on blood cells, and anticoagulants had to be used to prevent dangerous clotting. This is not true of the calf valve.

Earlier this year the Lancet, published in London, resported the survival of 21 patients in St. Vincent's Hospital, Melbourne, who had had their aortic valves replaced by those of calves or pigs.

As in the work here, the Australian researchers found no significant immunological reaction to the animal valves. They explained this by the nonliving character of the graft and by denaturization of tissue protein by preservatives.

The New York team, headed by Drs. Sheldon Burman and Ciro Armellini, is planning several similar operations, althoug they admit that evaluation of the long-term valve function must be checked for some time. They also are continuing experiments on techniques for sterilizing and implanting the valves.

This Couple Prefers Flying To Driving

MONTICELLO, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Robert Kaiser is one of those persons who would rather fly than drive. "It's safer. I've had some close squeaks in a car," she said.

Both Mrs. Kaiser and her husband hold private pilot's licenses. Kaiser is working on an instrument rating.

Radiation Therapy

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI)—A $200,000 radiation therapy facility, using a new approach to treating cancer and allied diseases, has been completed at the Oak Ridge Associated Universities Medical Division Hospital. A new low exposure radiation facility is being used in contrast to whole-body radiotherapy which requires higher radiation dosages.

Cut In Holidays To Be Requested

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Some Republicans will recommend to the 1968 legislature that the state eliminate some birthday holidays.

They have complained about people finding Capitol doors closed on such days as Robert E. Lee's and Franklin D. Roosevelt's anniversaries.

Book Recalls TVA

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—The University of Tennessee has published a new book summarizing the first 30 years of operatior of the Tennessee Valley Authority. The book was edited by Dr. John R. Moore, professor of economics at the university.

4-H Clubs Busy

CHICAGO (UPI)—An estimated 2.5 million youngsters now are engaged in some phase of 4-H Club work. About 400,000 men and women throughout the United States serve as 4-H leaders and project directors.

Gregg County, Tex., has produced 2.04 billion barrels of oil since discovery of oil in that area of northeast Texas.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Right Food Part Of Foundation For Good Health Through Life

VAN DELLEN

Food is one of the foundations of health from the cradle to the grave. This explains why the inhabitants of well-fed nations have less disease and live longer than those in less favored countries. But proper nutrition involves more than food; it means a wise selection, good eating habits, and a well functioning digestive tract.

Good eating habits should be established early in life. In this way that troublesome business of always trying to slim down is avoided.

Every bride and groom should promise each other at the altar not to become portly. If this happened there would be fewer widows and more happily married elderly couples living in Florida and in the Southwest.

IT IS NOT difficult for a fat person to lose weight but the majority slip back to where they started within six months after completing a reducing diet.

In this respect, the long term treatment of obesity is a miserable failure. It stems from badly ingrained dietary habits that are difficult to change.

The ideal diet contains just enough calories to meet the requirements for nutrition and energy. Additional amounts are needed in childhood for growth.

BUT THE quality of the food is equally important, regardless of age or activity. Our nutritionists recommend that each day's menu contain certain classes of foods in specific amounts — the basic diet most of us are familiar with.

Supplements such as calcium, iron, and vitamins are demanded during pregnancy and lactation. In the past, the elderly were denied the benefits of a well balanced diet. We now know that to maintain health they require the basic foods, including protein, just as do their children and grandchildren.

Nutrition won't prevent measles, mumps, colds, or pneumonia but it certainly goes a long way toward keeping us hale and hearty.

IN THIS respect it is only a pillar in the temple of health and shares equal responsibility with rest, exercise, cleanliness, and mental hygiene.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

VIRUS, WEAK BACK

G. M. W. writes: Why does a virus infection make the back weak?

REPLY

Weakness stems from confinement in bed and not necessarily from the virus. The exception occurs when the polio virus affects the muscles of the back. Generalized weakness and fatigue often follow infections such as the flu. In such instances the victim feels weak all over, including the back.

ALCOHOL HEADACHE

R. C. writes: Could you explain why a person gets a very bad headache at the base of the skull after only one small drink of alcohol, beer or wine?

REPLY

Alcohol dilates the blood vessels which in turn may cause headache. Apparently you are a hyper-reactor to this type of medicine. Occasionally distress from a tumor is aggravated by alcohol.

CHOCOLATE ALLERGY

D. M. D. writes: A friend claims that whenever she eats chocolate she gets a headache. This sounds crazy to me.

REPLY

Sociologist Defends The Teen-Agers

(Special to the I-J)

SAN FRANCISCO — Today's young people are not any worse than they were a decade ago, a sociologist has told a conference on the "Sexual Crisis in Young Adults" presented by the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center.

"In spite of all the publicity to the contrary, I have seen no good evidence that relations among today's young people are in any way profoundly or suddenly different than they were 10 years ago," said Dr. Bennett M. Berger of the U.C.-Davis campus.

Dr. Berger said that two things had brought the teen-age problem before the public: "There are more of them, and the emergence of the 'teeny-bopper' — the involvement of 11- and 12-year-olds in adolescent activities."

Adolescence was once a five year phenomenon. Now it may extend over 15 years, said Dr. Berger.

Dr. Anita Uhl Brothers, a Stanford University psychiatrist, blames early adolescence on the adults: "It is the parent who pushes her daughter or son into early social activities and this creates the teenybopper."

A breakdown of adult values has led the young to turn to each other, said Dr. Brothers. "They are teaching each other about love, affection, and sharing, because they are not learning it from adult society."

Dr. Richard L. Sutherland, a U.C.-Berkeley psychiatrist, told the group that neither parent nor child "can foretell the specific problems the child will face in adult life. The child demands answers, then rebels if the answers don't fit. The adult supplies answers, and is angry when they are rejected."

Dr. Berger explained that the parent can move toward maturity, too, "if he accepts his own defenses, evasions and irrational feelings with good humor. Perhaps the best thing he can teach his adolescent child is not to take himself or others too seriously in an unpredictable world."

Grace Attends Filmland Bash

The former Grace Kelly, making her first appearance at a Hollywood party since she left her acting career 11 years ago, wore a full-length Chinese robe. Her husband, in accordance with the invitation's "no ties" instructions, wore an open shirt and slippers.

The party, with a Mexican theme and dancing to two Mexican bands was given by Hudson to honor Carol Burnett on the eve of her new CBS television series.

Four-A-Day Milking May Help Farmers

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —Dairy farmers who have a labor problem might get around it by milking their cows twice as often, a scientist reports.

Dr. Clinton E. Meadows of Michigan State University said when cows are milked four times a day instead of twice they may produce enough extra milk to pay the wages of another hired man. Meadows said he tried it with an experimental herd and found it worked, with no complaints from the cows.

Prayer Even Takes Place Of A Garage

BRISTOL, England (UPI)—Everything else failed so an unidentified parishioner of St. Philip's Church asked the Rev. Malcolm Widdicombe for religious help to start his jalopy.

The Rev. Widdicombe said he blessed the car keys and the motor then kicked over. "Just one way in which the Lord blesses us," he said.

Wanted, One Owner For A Ripe Package

LONDON (UPI)—The lost and found department at London airport desperately wants someone to come forward and claim a small parcel wrapped—but loosely—in brown paper.

"We can tell by smelling that it contains fish," said one employee. "It's a little overpowering but by law we can't throw it away."

Prince Charles Proves Life Of Dunking Party

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, heir to Britain's throne, created quite a splash when he dunked a fully dressed countess at a swimming pool party, the Sunday Express reported.

"Primrose was wearing a blue silk dress. She was running up and down the side of the pool wondering how she could get in," he added.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Serial Writer Has Another This Fall

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two years ago when Irna Phillips took the outline of "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" to the networks they told her she was out of her mind to expect them to produce a daytime serial involving a race problem, a nun and a Catholic family.

But Miss Phillips is not one of the most remarkable women of television —as she was of radio —for nothing. So on Sept. 18 CBS-TV will present the premiere of "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing," five times a week, 52 weeks a year and, if past records are anything to go by, for long years to come.

OTHER SHOWS

Millions of housewives know Miss Phillips by her work, and probably by her name, if their husbands do not. She does not seek publicity. But the other day she flew into New York for final casting and chatted for a while in a suite in an elegant hotel well away from the busy center of town.

No personal questions, she said, no interrogation about the methods that once enabled her to have four shows on the air at the same time, making her hours a week of viewing time, responsible for a fantastic 10

But hurdles were made to be jumped. And behind the crisp exterior is a woman of more warmth and understanding than one would expect or she simply would never have been able to hold audiences all the way from "Painted Dreams" in 1930 through "The Guiding Light," "Today's Children," "Young Doctor Malone," "The Road of Life," "Woman in White" and "The Right to Happiness."

TEACHER FIRST

And the present number one daytime television serial, "As the World Turns" which will immediately precede "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing" in the new season.

Miss Phillips is a native of Chicago, did postgraduate work in law and psychology and holds a masters degree in speech. She was a school teacher in Dayton, Ohio, before her writing debut on the networks 37 years ago. She has never married but adopted two children, one of whom recently married a man with several children making her, she smiled, an "instant grandmother."

As to her writing—the masters degree is the clue. She has no trouble dictating the dialogue to be spoken by her characters after first drafting a very long outline of the story. Like many other prolific authors she does her best work early in the morning—from 6 a.m. on.

She ignores critics who look down on the daytime serial. She says the audience is far more intelligent than it is given credit for and she offers this proof: Years before nighttime television dared she was dramatizing abortion problems and she is again breaking through into new emotional ground with "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing."

LIKE NOTHING ELSE

A Rural Breakfast With A Jazz Poet

By BRUCE COLEMAN

First, on arriving at his pre-1906 earthquake house past a half-dirt road in Homestead Woods, he exlaims, "Come on with me to the store. I've got to get some eggs for the sausages." It's 2 p.m. and, of course, time to eat.

En route we met three of the composer-singer's children, riding bikes with a friend. Two dogs and three children piled into the station wagon.

"I love it here," said the friendly, outgoing music man. He doesn't get much time to hike the trails, he said, because he is home about half the time and on the road the rest. But he much prefers Marin to the "concrete land" of New York.

"I write at home," he explained. "I can write better. Everything around inspires me — my children, I've got my record player. Sometimes the TV shows inspire me — not that they are so wonderful and brilliant but that they are so mediocre that I immediately conclude I can do better."

One of the children asked for some ice cream and Hendricks exclaimed, "Ice cream before breakfast! What's the matter with you?"

'POET LAUREATE'

Hendricks, called "poet laureate of jazz," has written such hits as his two-hour epic poem, "Evolution of the Blues;" "Desafinado," or in English, "Slightly out of tune," and a song recorded by Carol Channing, "I'll Die Happy." He does lyrics mostly, he said.

He will entertain for the first time on Mount Tamalpais at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Cushing Memorial amphitheater in "An Afternoon with Count Basie." Hendricks will sing and act as master of ceremonies.

Also playing will be his quartet, two of whom are from Mill Valley, Arthur Lewis and Wyatt Ruther. The trio of Vince Guaraldi, who also lives in Mill Valley, will play.

BOYS CLUB BENEFIT

Hendricks has told some of the boys he wishes he had had such an opportunity as a boy. "We didn't have any club," he explained.

Born in Newark, Ohio, the son of a railroad worker and minister, Hendricks grew up in Toledo in an area where "everyone was poor." He said that he got good grades — all A's —so his father asked him to help write his sermons. Hendricks had to read the Bible for this and as a result, has a healthy attitued toward what he calls "an intelligence that is in charge of everything."

With the eggs in a bag, Hendricks drove back up the country road to his home, where he said "Maurice Chevalier once slept."

"My wife, Judith, reads palms and does astrological charts and numerology," said the singer. "She's very good. It's funny though, she read Harry Belafonte's hand and it shows no talent. Which means that diffenent people have deeply-hidden talents. It doesn't show but it's there in Belafonte in great abundance."

FIVE CHILDREN

The Hendrickses have five children, Jon Jr., Michele, Eric, Colleen, and Aria. Jon Jr. attends Tamalpais High School, the three middle children go to the School of Universal Living in San Francisco where the "mostly do dance all day long," and Aria, 3, whose name was picked numerologically by Mrs. Hendricks, stays at home.

Hendricks has lived three years in Marin, the first year on a Sausalito houseboat. "I love it here," he said, "but we're kind of concerned over predictions made by the late Edward Cayce. He predicted that this part of the country will fall into the Pacific Ocean as far inland as Nebraska and that a new land will rise. The time set is around 1968."

Hendricks and his family ate some eggs and sausages and strawberries with cream before a large window in the living room. "I tend to pay not too much attention the things of the earth," he said. "I'm a citizen of the earth and my family is mankind. . . I'm just as much at home among one group of people as some other."

Joan Baez Sets A Free Concert

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Folk singer Joan Baez, refused permission by the Daughters of the American Revolution to use their hall, planned a free open air concert tonight on the Washington Monument grounds.

Miss Anderson was refused the DAR's Constitution Hall in 1939 because of her race. President Franklin D. Roosevelt then arranged for her to sing from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial.

CONCERT REVIEW

Luisa Traina Shines As Spanish Dancer

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Spanish dancers we have seen by the dozens, but Luisa Traina outshone most of the yesterday afternoon in the third Marin Music Chest program in the current summer series at Forest Meadows.

Though she was surrounded by a company of seven other dancers of solo quality — three women and four men —they were only like the setting for a dazzling jewel — so much greater was her skill than theirs.

DRAMATIC IMPACT

Tiny and very feminine, she nevertheless danced with passion and dramatic impact, as well as amazing stamina and strength in her foot and leg work of the kind that usually taxes the capacity of a male dancer.

This was seen in the fantastic Zapateado she danced on a dais, wearing boots and carrying a riding crop. The intricate rhythms in a wide variety of dynamics beat out by her feet at lightning speed were sensational.

She revealed the same marvelous control of intricate rhythms and range of dynamics in her castanets in "Castanet Overture," a dance in the elegant 18th Century style accenting leisurely grace.

Miss Traina's full dramatic power was called for in the well-known "Danza Ritual del Fuego," or ritual fire dance from Falla's Gypsy ballet "El Amor Brujo."

Also performing with flair and style and some remarkable foot work was the male lead dancer, Jorge Romero, but he was not in Luisa Traina's class.

FLAMENCO DANCE

Ensemble numbers were all well done.

Fortunately, the value of the program was largely as a spectacle with gorgeous, frequently changed costumes and exciting action, for there was no sound amplification system through no fault of the Music Chest. It simply did not arrive.

For this reason the piano music of Ralph Linsley, which with the flamenco guitar of Bruce Patterson was the only accompaniment for the dancers, was heard very little. And Patterson's two solo guitar variations in his own arrangements also suffered from this lack.

Birth Control Drugs Tested

WASHINGTON (AP) — New long-range tests have been ordered for birth control drugs, both those now on the market and those still in the experiment stage. But there are no government plans to halt the sale of the drugs now in general use.

The Food and Drug Administration ordered the testing when it was found that dogs and monkeys developed abnormal breast tissue after receiving MK-665, an experimental drug. Four of six dogs developed breast cancer. The monkeys developed an abnormality known as atypical hyperplasia which the FDA said could be, but probably is not, a forerunner of cancer.

MK-665 also had been tested on 340 women but these tests were halted early last year after the results of the dog experiments became known.

Crowing Rooster Brings A Complaint

Clifford Young of 63-A Shell Road, Mill Valley, telephoned police at 5:56 a.m. today reporting that there is a "crowing rooster" in his neighborhood that wakes him every morning at 4 a.m. and he would like to have it "stopped."

Mill Valley police said this area is out of their jurisdiction and they are referring it to the county sheriff's department.

Singers Honored By Association

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Singers Harry Belafonte and Ella Fitzgerald have been named man and woman of the year by the National Association of Radio Announcers.

The group also presented its first Golden Television Mike Award to TV star Bill Cosby, who has won two consecutive Emmys as co-star of the "I Spy" show.

The predominantly Negro association voted to change its name to the National Association of Television and Radio Announcers.

Appeal To Save Home Of Cubism

BERKELEY (AP) — An appeal has been made to the French Minister of Culture by 26 art faculty members and students at the University of California.

They want his help in saving the "Bateau Lavoir," a Montmarte building in Paris regarded as the home of Cubism.

The U.C. group, headed by professor Herschel Chipp, said a threat exists that the building will be torn down.

West Marin Master Plan On Agenda

The Marin County Board of Supervisors tomorrow will again tackle the West Marin master plan and the veterans memorial auditorium and fair building.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker is scheduled to present data on other area master plans asked by the supervisors when the West Marin plan was reopened July 18 after being adopted a week earlier. At issue is the overall density of the West Marin plan, currently fixed at .88 of a family dewlling per acre, with bonus for "good development," making possible increase to 1.15 units.

The supervisors, currently without funds to complete the second phase of the proposed $2.8 million fair building, are scheduled to hear further recommendations on construction from civic organizations and Administrator Alan Bruce.

Private pilots using the Marin County Airport at Novato are expected to ask retention of the existing runway when a new strip is completed.

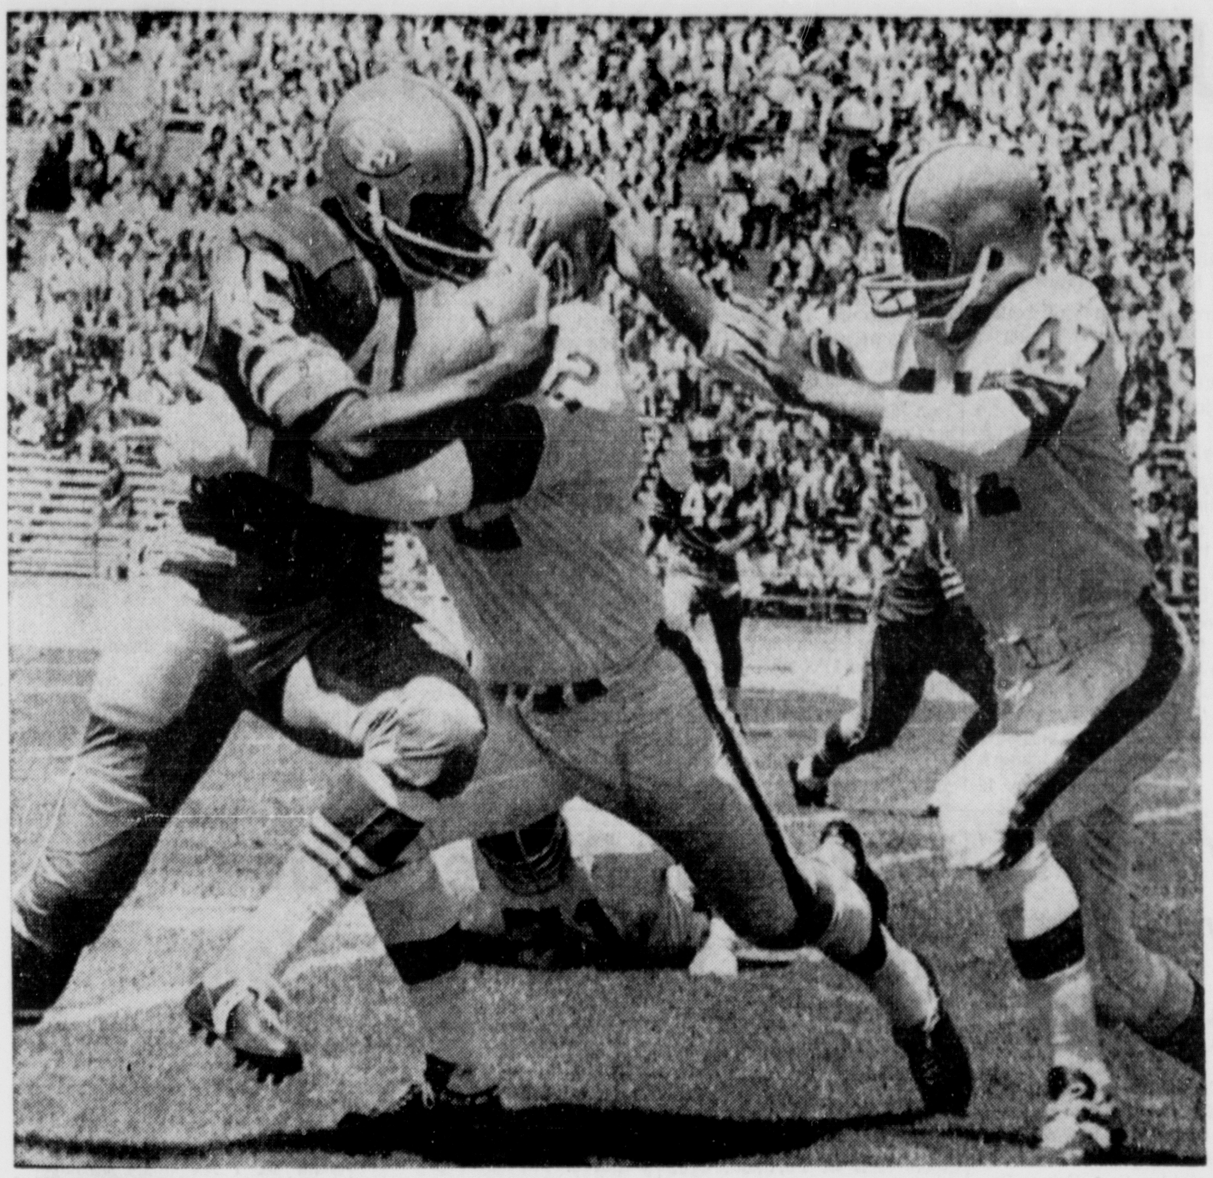
Quick Start For 49ers On Pro Football Trail



BULLDOZING TUCKER — San Francisco 49er back Bill Tucker rams for six yards against the Cleveland Browns as Jim Houston (82) and Tom Gunnoe (47) bear down in the NFL exhibition football game yesterday.

The 49ers trounced old rival Cleveland 42-14 yesterday in a wild fray before 27,482 fans—including spies for future foes. Coach John Rauch, general manager Al Davis and other Oakland Raider personnel and New Orleans quarterback Bill Killmer, a former 49er, were in the press box.

Forty-niner coach Jack Christiansen praised linebacker Dave Wilcox as "great" and predicted he'll be All-Pro. He also liked the play of halfback Doug Cunningham and fullback Bill Tucker and said some of the young players looked good.

"It will be tough cutting some of these players," he told newsmen. "Some of them are sure to be playing for someone else—and possibly hurting us."

Cunningham rushed 7 times for 49 yards and Tucker 6 for 10. Tucker scored from the one and caught one pass. Cunningham had the day's longest run from scrimmage, 20 yards.

Quarterback John Brodie completed 11 of 17 passes for 189 yards and 2 touchdowns, including a 61-yarder with Kay McFarland scoring. George Mira had 5 of 11 for 53 yards.

49er pass receiving was shared by 10 players with Dave Wichter catching 3 for 42. Among five who received two each were rookies Ed McCall from Miles College in Alabama and Bob Windsor from Kentucky.

The 49ers used a wide variety of plays: They scored twice after recovering fumbled kicks; once after recovering a blocked field goal attempt; once on that 61-yard Brodie-McFarland play, and on marches of 48 and 76 yards. Mira quarterbacked the latter.

In Defense Of Marichal

JACK HANLEY

Juan's Injuries Not Make Believe

ST. LOUIS — A few words in behalf of Juan Marichal to set straight the record. There have been some unkind comments that he magnifies his injuries in his own mind. Maybe the uncharitable critics are mind readers but they are absolutely wrong this time.

One look at a nastily knotted and blood-clotted area of Marichal's right hamstring muscle would be enough to convince skeptics that he suffered an incapacitating injury while doing wind sprints in Shea Stadium on the night of Aug. 4.

TY CLINE PULLED a hamstring muscle in Candlestick Park July 15 and was put on the disabled list for 21 days. But Cline isn't as important to the Giants as Marichal. And, of course, the muscle pull he suffered was more severe than the injury to Marichal.

Nevertheless, it should clearly be understood by everyone that Marichal's injury was not superficial. It was quite real—and quite painful. Leo Hughes, the team trainer, fully appreciated this as soon as he felt the knot in Marichal's leg.

HUGHES ALSO knew that it would be a minor miracle if Marichal wasn't sidelined at least a week or more. Sure, Marichal could throw a ball softly. But he couldn't kick off the mound with the all-important right leg momentum needed for a fast ball.

Four days after the injury, Marichal pitched five minutes of batting practice in Philadelphia, throwing soft stuff. When he finally tried to throw his fast ball, the damaged right leg muscle protested painfully. It was obvious to anyone watching Marichal although he didn't wince.

MARICHAL JUST TOSSED the ball to Larry Jansen and requested the pitching coach to get someone else on the mound. Then he walked to the outfield where he went through half an hour's exercises designed to speed healing of the damaged muscle. By the time the Giants reached St. Louis, Marichal had extended the exercise drills to more than an hour.

There is no doubt that Marichal is injury prone. But none of his injuries ever has been fanciful. There was the time several seasons ago in Pittsburgh when Marichal sustained a severe back injury during the simple process of sitting in a dining room chair.

ON THAT OCCASION Jose Pagan was Marichal's roommate and Pagan had to take off Marichal's shoes after they reached their room. "He couldn't bend over," Pagan reported.

Because back injuries are not visible they, too, often provoke unjust and unwarranted comments by intolerant critics. Frank Bowman, Hughes' predecessor as trainer of the Giants, would become furious when he heard them.

It was Bowman who finally popped Marichal's back into proper alignment after the Dominican Dandy suffered two weeks of misery.

"BASEBALL INJURIES invariably are internal." Bowman used to say. "You can't see them but this doesn't make them any less real."

JUMP FOR TOUCHDOWN — Dave Parks, San Francisco 49er receiver, is going up for a pass from quarterback John Brodie. Coming down it was a touchdown as Cleveland Browns' defenders Bob Matheson (56) and Bill Devrow (22) watch helplessly. (UPI Telephotos)

BIG BRAVES TO SPONSOR LI'L BRAVES

The San Rafael Braves will return to action this winter in a San Francisco league under the sponsorship of the Atlanta Braves, Manager Joe Anselmo has announced.

The Braves, who will play next year again in the Western Baseball Association, were sponsored this year by San Rafael hotel owner Whitey Litchfield. They won the coastal division title of the WBA, which will be expanded next year.

Anselmo is a scout for Atlanta and the San Rafael club will probably feature some of the parent club's draftees.

Mill Valley Nine Loses Tough One

The Mill Valley Merchants battled for a little over four hot hours in Mill Valley yesterday, collected 14 hits to Cal Vets' five over 15 innings and lost the semi-pro game baseball game anyway, 4-3.

It was a generally frustrating afternoon. The Merchants left 17 runners stranded on the basepaths to the Vets' nine. To top it off, the winning run came home in the 15th inning on a misjudged routine fly ball.

That wasted a nine-inning two hit effort by hurler Laddie Richerson and a six-inning, three-hit job by loser Craig Tellis. Ron LaRuffa crached an eighth-inning homer for the Merchants, tying the score at 3-3.

Arnie Wins; Cerrudo Tops Many Pros

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the 37-year-old millionaire golfing great, was as happy as a kid yesterday after winning the $100,000 American Golf Classic.

It wasn't the $20,000 check or just another triumph in an ever growing list that had Palmer grinning radiantly.

It was professional victory No. 50, a long sought milestone which was becoming more evasive with every attempt.

The $20,000 vaulted Palmer to $138,189 for the year to keep him well ahead of the pack, boosted his official career earnings to $892,640 and put him over the $1 million mark in unofficial earnings.

Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, an amateur, beat many in the field of pros, finishing with a 283 total on rounds of 71-72, 69 and 71. That score tied him with Masters champion Gay Brewer and Rex Baxter Jr., the leader through the first two rounds. Brewer and Baxter won $1,950 for their efforts.

$4.5 MILLION

Mieuli Sues Boone, Oaks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Franklin Mieuli, owner of the San Francisco Warriors, planned to file a $4.5 million damage suit in Superior Court today against Pat Boone and the Oakland Oaks of the rival American Basketball Association.

In the suit, Mieuli is seeking damages from Boone and the Oaks for their part in getting former San Francisco star Rick Barry to forego his contract with the Warriors and sign a three-year pact with Oakland.

Barry, though, was unable to make good on his jump since last week a Superior Court judge upheld the controversial National Basketball Association option clause and enjoined Barry from playing with any other team in 1967-68 except the Warriors.

Mieuli said he is seeking $1.5 million in actual damages from Boone, the popular recording star and television personality who owns the Oaks, and $3 million in punitive damages.

In his suit, Mieuli stuck pretty close to the opinion handed down last week by Judge Robert J. Drewes in upholding the Warriors and the NBA option clause.

In his opinion, Judge Drewes wrote that the whole Warrior team and promotion was built around the availability of Barry to the team. The judge also noted that Barry, the NBA's top scorer last season, was in full knowledge of the option clause in his contract with the Warriors and that he apparently decided to jump to the Oaks on advice from attorneys representing Boone and the Oaks.

"I'm seeking damage on two counts," said Mieuli. "First for Boone and the Oaks' part in inducing Barry to breach a valid contract with the Warriors, and second, for their talking him into breaking the contract after he admitted he knew the option clause in that contract bound him to us for another year."

Buchholz, Jean Lead Tourney

Paul Buchholz led the gross flight and Alex Jean was the leader in the net flight after the second day of the Meadow Club's men's club championship yesterday at Fairfax.

Sagging Giants Vs. Braves

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, wilted by a disastrous series that put them virtually out of sight of the National League pennant, face Atlanta tonight, bravely.

The Giant 2-1 loss yesterday to the first place St. Louis Cardinals plunged them 11 games behind and split Ray Sadecki's record at 4-4.

San Francisco whipped the Cards last Thursday at the start of the four-game series, hopeful of torpedoing the St. Louis 8½-game lead ahead of second place Atlanta. Instead, calamity. San Francisco lost the next three, each by one run.

The victory gave Redbird hurler Dick Hughes, a 29-year-old rookie from Arkansas, an 11-4 record—top St. Louis winner. He allowed seven scattered hits in 7 2-3 innings.

HEART BREAKER

It was a special heartbreaker for Sadecki, who outpitched Hughes, allowing the foe only five hits going the distance.

The Giants never did get Juan Marichal into uniform against the Cards. His hamstring muscle still hasn't mended.

For St. Louis, the story was told in the third inning, via a walk, sacrifice and a single by Lou Brock, then a double by Alex Johnson, as Jim Hart misjudged a fly ball in left field. This proved sufficient to make the two runs that won the game for the Cards.

The action came after the Giants, in their part of the third, wasted a two-out triple by Ty Cline. The Giants made their single score in the fourth as Willie McCovey slammed a long triple to left center. Brock and Curt Flood flopped trying to field the ball. Hart got to first on an infield belt, and McCovey came home.

Unitas Leads Colts' Win

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Unitas, the Baltimore Colts' sharpshooter who won a top share of the National Football League's passing records, still is bothered by a sore arm, but rivals had better beware.

"Sure, the arm still bothers me," the 12-year-NFL quarterback said with a shrug yesterday after helping the Colts to a 33-3 victory over the Boston Patriots of the rival American Football League.

Unitas, handicapped by a knee injury and tendonitis in his right shoulder and elbow the past two years, indicated he was a man ready and willing to live with a little pain.

He completed nine of 14 passes for 91 yards and broke out of a trap to rush for eight yards as the Colts built a 19-3 first half lead. Then he retired to the sidelines as Baltimore posted its 13th straight exhibition triumph.

The victory evened the 16-game preseason series between the two leagues at one game each. However, Detroit, a 13-7 upset victim against Denver's AFL Broncos, attempts to break the deadlock tonight as host to the Buffalo Bills, last year's AFL Eastern champs, in the only game scheduled.

Unitas completed three key passes before he handed off to Tom Matte for a five-yard scoring run completing a 59-yard march late in the first period. The Patriots picked up a 37-yard field goal by Gino Cappelletti early in the second quarter, but Lenny Moore returned the ensuing kickoff 46 yards to the Boston 37.

A 17-yard Unitas pass then helped set up a 26-yard field goal by Lou Michaels.

Jon Morris' long distance centering pass on punt formation sailed out of the end zone for a safety. The Colts added another quick seven points by taking the free kick and going 39 yards, Unitas passing to rookie Ray Perkins for 19 and then handing off to yearling Jim Detwiler for the other 20.

The Patriots made their deepest penetration, to the Baltimore 21, in the third period, but a field goal attempt failed. The Colts added touchdowns on Jim Welch's five-yard run and rookie Terry Southall's pass to Bob Baldwin covering 72 yards in the finale.

The only other game yesterday produced a minor surprise as San Francisco clobbered the Cleveland Browns 42-14 at San Francisco in an all-NFL exhibition.

In the NFL Saturday, Los Angeles whipped Dallas 20-6, Green Bay bounced Pittsburgh 31-20, New Orleans upset St. Louis 23-14, Minnesota trounced Philadelphia 34-0 and the New York Giants and Atlanta played to a 10-10 tie.

In the AFL, Kansas City easily handled the New York Jets 30-17, San Diego nudged Miami 20-19 and Oakland cruised by Houston 24-7.

Matson, 37, a 14-year veteran, told Coach Joe Kuharich of his decision Sunday. He will become a scout for the Eagles.

The 6-foot-2, 215 pound halfback, who is second to Jim Brown on the all-time total offense list with 12,844 yards, played six years with the Chicago Cardinals, four years with Los Angeles, one with Detroit and three with the Eagles.

Hill suffered the fracture in his right hand in the loss to the Vikings and was scheduled to undergo surgery today. A team spokesman said it would be eight weeks before Hill regained full use of the hand.

Wire-Wire Winner At Cotati

Parsons, of Carmel, Calif., was second, 21 seconds behind Follmer. Motschenbacher, a Beverly Hills driver who won the Monterey Grand Prix, had a spin-out at the 5th turn and his McClaren sat idly at the roadside as the field sped by. He returned to the race, but it took him the entire race to catch up to third place.

Nate Bourgeault of Sausalito drove to a second-place finish in the first race of the Grand Prix, a formula car battle won by Lou Sell of Fullerton. He was also the Class C winner in the first race.

Victorious Raiders Face Kansas City Chiefs Next

The Raiders play the defending champion Kansas City Chiefs next at Portland, Ore., on Saturday night, losing any advantage they may have had at their own Coliseum as they tripped, first, San Diego, 24-23, and then Houston, 24-7, Saturday night.

Kansas City beat the Oilers 24-9, then battered hte New York Jets 30-17.

Raider Coach John Roach said, "We'll have our hands full against the Chiefs. I hope we can get mentally and physically prepared."

Rauch praised Willie Brown, who intercepted two Oiler passes and defended well. Willie was given the game ball.

The coach also mentioned guard Gene Upshaw, end Lionel Taylor and flanker Glenn Bass and rookie flanker Rod Sharman as having played well.

He pointed out, "We used a lot of players to see what they could do. I felt many of our younger players did well, but I can see lots of places they need improvement.

Rauch remarked, "We didn't run the ball very well, but Houston has a good line, especially Ernie Ladd, Pat Holmes and Gary Cutsinger."

Daryle Lamonica directed the Raiders to a field goal and touchdown in the second quarter and a final TD in the fourth. George Blanda took them to a third quarter TD and kicked a 25-yard field goal and three conversions.

Lamonica completed 20 of 35 passes for 270 yards and 2 TDs, a 40 - yarder to rookie Estes Banks from Colorado and to Bill Miller for 34 yards.

Blanda tossed 17 yards to Taylor for a score.

Hewritt Dixon carried 5 times for 25 yards; Clem Daniels 8 for 26 and Roger Hagberg 10 for 22.

Oiler Don Trull completed 9 of 19, including a 15-yarder to Hoyle Granger for a TD. Granger carried 17 times for 67 yards.

Title Playoff Scheduled In Hub Softball Tourney

Two Marin teams and a San Francisco club finished a three-way tie for first place as the regular schedule of the eighth annual San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament concluded yesterday.

Defening champion Sohner Tree Service, Hamilton Air Force Base and Flying Goose Sporting Goods of San Francisco all finished the round - robin tourney with 3-1 records.

Lady Lea Salon of San Rafael posted a 1-3 mark while Two-Rock Army of Petaluma was winless in four outings.

Tournament director Frank Quinn announced late last night that tentative plans call for Sohner and Flying Goose to play for the championship at 6:30 p.m. at the Hub City's Memorial Park.

Hamilton Field is unable to participate in any post-tourney action since they will be playing in a service tournament which begins today, according to Quinn.

In yesterday's action, Hamilton won a 3-2 14-inning verdict over Lady Lea Salon, Sohner breezed to a 7-1 win over Lady Lea, and Flying Goose notched a 2-1 victory over Hamilton.

The Hamilton-Lady Lea marathon was a continuation of Friday night's game which was halted after eight innings due to darkness.

Palmer Ups His Winnings At Akron

for a long time," said Palmer, who had not scored a triumph since the Tucson Open last February.

"When you go any length of time without a win, it seems to become all the harder to win again. Right now my game is good but I was becoming cautious of not having won a tournament in many months."

WONDERING

"No, no, I didn't mean it like that," said Palmer, whose victory was forged in typical fashion. "It just gets you wondering. When I came up to No. 14 and saw the pin placement in the back corner, I wondered if I could still make that shot."

Palmer not only attempted but made the shot only to miss a birdie putt by inches.

He started the final round yesterday tied with Jack Nicklaus, one stroke behind a relatively unknown trio of leaders—Jack McGowan, Allan Henning and Kermit Zarley.

Palmer smacked a three wood to the green on No. 2 and two-putted for a birdie. He sank an eight-foot birdie putt on No. 7, but took a bogey on No. 8 and made the turn one under par for the nine holes and a one-stroke lead.

While Zarley and Henning were losing ground and Nicklaus faded with a bogey on No. 6 and a double bogey on the eighth hole, McGowan was giving Palmer a battle.

McGowan pulled into a tie with a birdie on No. 11, but Arnie pushed him back with a counter birdie on No. 12. Palmer then played steady par golf and canned an 18-foot birdie putt on No. 17 to close the door on McGowan.

HIS RETURN

McGowan, who recently returned to the tour after a three-month layoff because of hepatitis, took a double bogey 6 on the final hole to fall into a three-way tie for third place.

Doug Sanders, who was in the running until he bogeyed No. 14, finished with a one-under par 34-35—69 and a 279 total to take second money of $12,000.

Palmer's final round of 34-33—67 gave him a four-under-par 276 total, one shot over the Firestone Country Club record set by Ken Venturi in the 1964 Classic.

McGowan with 36-36—72, Zarley with 38-34—72 and Nicklaus with 37-34—71 finished in a third place tie at 280 and collected $5,600 each.

Gardner Dickinson, Bert Yancey and Bobby Nichols were grouped at 281, followed by Henning, Al Balding, Tom Weiskopf and Kel Nagle at 282.

U. S. SWIMMERS SHOW STRENGTH

Ready For All Challengers

CHICAGO (UPI)—With records falling like dominoes, the gamely United States mermen bucked chilly weather and chilly water over the weekend to show the world they are ready to face all challengers for Olympic swimming honors.

Eight world records were broken or matched in the national Amateur Athletic Union's men's outdoor swimming championships at west suburban Oak Park's Rehm Pool.

Don Schollander, a 1964 Olympic standout, set a record world Saturday in the 200-meter freestyle. He set a meet mark yesterday in the 100-yard freestyle of 53.3 seconds. The former Indiana University sprinter swam for Santa Clara.

The Santa Clara Club's 400-meter medley relay team of Fred Haywood, Wayne Anderson, Mark Spitz and Schollander set a meet record in 3:59.7. Spitz and Schollander each took two individual events during the three-day championships and swam on two winning relay squads.

Spitz, the holder of world records in the 100-and 200-meter butterfly and the 400-meter freestyle, was clocked in 2:13.6 for the 200-meter individual medley, third behind Doug Russell of the Burford (Tex.) Swim Club.

Spitz was the individual point leader for the meet with 24. Clubmate Schollander had 22, and Charles Hickcox of the Indiana (University) Aquatic Club, was third with 21.

Physician Captures Pacific Golf Title

SEATTLE (AP) — A lean, 45-year-old urologist who calls himself a "kidney plumber" has another shiny golf crown in his big bag of trophies today. But it didn't come easy.

The almost nerveless doctor had rounds of 71-70-70-73 for a one-over par total of 285 in the three-day, 72-hole event at Seattle Golf Club's part-71 layout.

TENNIS

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Australian Rod Laver scored an 8-6, 6-0 victory over Dennis Ralston of California for the championship of the $15,000 Colonial National Invitational Tennis Tournament.

CLEVELAND — The United States took a 3-1 lead over Great Britain entering the final day's play in the best-of-7 matches.

TRACK

LONDON — Jim Ryun of Kansas U. scored his second victory in five weeks over Kipchoge Keino of Kenya, but failed to threaten his world record of 3:51.1 by clocking a 3:56.0.

BOWLING

GENERAL

DiMag Loop Winds Up

The form sheet prevailed on the final day of play in the Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League, with the top three teams stopping the bottom three teams.

League champion Indian Valley padded its record to a final 12-2 with a 7-0 clipping of San Rafael in the first game of a doubleheader at San Anselmo with Marin Cleaners bunting and running past the Mill Valley Chiefs, 5-0, in the second game.

Presidio stopped San Anselmo, 8-4, at Presidio.

A key play in his support was a bunt that scored two runs cleanly. Mike Parnow pulled off the squeeze with Roger Offenbach on Third and Mike Luchessa on second in the third inning. Offenbach scored easily and Lucnessa never stopped running when the third baseman threw to first.

Steve Trono collected four hits for Presidio, including two triples and drove in three runs while younger brother Gary rapped a bases-loaded triple.

Busy Day For Hub Softballers

Yesterday was a busy day for the Sohner Treemen.

They were buzzing in two different places yesterday, and in winning style. Yesterday afternoon, they were chopping down Lady Lea of San Rafael, 7-1, to gain a three-way tie for first place in the San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament.

That affair was over at 3:45. At 6 p.m., the Treemen started sawing Guild Wine of Ukiah apart in the Healdsburg Softball Tournament, winning a 7-3 verdict behind Morey Swarm.

Swarm hurled a five-hitter, struck out 11 batters and lashed out a single, a triple and a three-run homer.

Cost is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 16.

Machette Defaults

Three Marin Golfers Try For Nationals

There are only five Northern California spots in the National Amateur Golf Tournament at Broadmoore course, Colorado Springs, Aug. 30 - Sept. 2 but three of them could be filled by Marin County Golfer.

Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, third last year in the National, will be trying for a spot far from home in a qualifying tournament at Rochester tomorrow, along with California State champ Bob Smith.

Youngster Ray Leach of Novato and Don Hawken of San Rafael will be trying to pass the test tomorrow at Lake Merced Club, site of the Northern California Junior Championship which starts tomorrow. They will have their first round junior matches postponed tomorrow in order to try to qualify for the National.

Bee Kilgore Wins Tennis Crown

Bee Kilgore of Tiburon was the only Marin County netter to capture an individual championship in the windup of the Portola Valley Junior Tennis Championships at Alpine Hills Tennis and Swim Club yesterday.

Bee stopped Nancy Chandler of Redwood City in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1 to capture the girls 12 singles title.

Mike Gomez of Belvedere went down in hard defeat in the Boys 12 novice final, losing a tough three-setter to Nick Saviano of Los Altos, 6-3, 10-12, 6-2; Pam Winslow of Tiburon fell in the girls 14 novice finals, losing to Julia Garcia of Saratoga 6-1, 6-4.

Candy Osterman and Marilyn Knight of Tiburon stopped Annett DeAntonio and Koren Kohn, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2 in the girls 18 doubles finals.

Ann Lammott of Tiburon and Mary Beth Miller of San Carlos teamed up to win the girls 14 doubles title with a 6-1, 6-2 win over Karen Havens and Hollie Hill.

Mrs. Kern Wins

Top scores in Mill Valley Women's Gold Club action Friday:

Pvt. Holtzman Does Job

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Over in Vietnam, somebody will undoubtedly be glad that Pvt. Ken Holtzman gave a couple of pints of blood last week. Back in Philadelphia, they may wish he wasn't all that civic-minded.

Holtzman, on his first pass from the Army in nearly three months, yesterday pitched well enough for 5⅓ innings for the Chicago Cubs to beat the Phillies 6-2. They took the nightcap, too, 1-0 behind Ferguson Jenkins.

Holtzman, who went into the Army for six months with a 5-0 record on May 20, hopes to make his weekend pitching a regular thing now that he's out of basic training and learning to be a combat medic at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

"I won't know until Friday if I'm going to get a pass," he said. "This weekend I got one by giving two pints of blood. I've got enough left if they say give some more, but I'm not doing it just to get a pass. It goes to Vietnam. I know how much it's needed."

TIRED

Maybe it was the long layoff or maybe the missing blood, but Holtzman says he began to tire in the fifth and Manager Leo Durocher took the 21-year-old lefty out, though he gave up just four hits, striking out four and walking two.

Bill Stoneman finished up and Ron Santo's 25th homer sparked a three-run fourth inning. Jenkins stopped the Phils on four hits in the second game, winning his 16th game, and Don Kessinger drove in the only run of the game.

In other National League contest yesterday, New York swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 3-0 and 11-9, Cincinnati shut out Los Angeles 3-0, St. Louis edged San Francisco 2-1 and Atlanta crushed Houston 8-4.

In the American League, Minnesota edged Chicago 3-2, Detroit nipped Baltimore 3-2, New York outfought Cleveland 15-11, California edged Boston 3-2 and Washington blanked Kansas City 2-0.

Holtzman admitted he "felt a little like a rookie again" when he faced his first major league batter in 85 days, but added, "once I started throwing I had no flutters."

DEEP STEAM Wall to Wall Carpet Cleaning

DEEP STEAM removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action are used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance. The need of frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.

OLD

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!

THIS DEEP STEAM PROCESS IS GUARANTEED TO BE COMPLETELY SAFE ON ALL FABRICS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS!

Selling Of Phone Stock Just Emotional Action

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Years ago, I bought Oklahoma Gas & Electric preferred which has gone down to below 15. Should I hold this stock or exchange it for O G & E common? I also have American Telephone and would like your advice on this." M.R.

A. An old Street friend of mine says that preferred stocks are neither fish nor fowl. They do not provide the maximum security of a bond and since they are fixed as to income, nonconvertible preferreds—such as yours—offer little in the way of appreciation. They should be bought only when relatively high and safe income is an absolute requirement. In all other circumstances, investors should seek worthwhile capital enhancement over a period of time, which is possible only through the purchase of common stocks.

I advise you to switch your O G & E preferred into the common. Now as to Telephone, this stock has been hurt by the FCC rate rulings but much of the selling has been emotional. I think you are unlikely to see any price progress for a time but that at some future date the stock in retrospect will look reasonably cheap. I advise you to hold American Telephone, now yielding 4.2 per cent.

Q. "On Oct. 4, 1966, you mentioned E G & G as a good growth investment in oceanography. I bought the stock at 33 and it has moved up to 90. Thank you very much and do you still regard it as a sound growth issue?" H.L.

A. You're very welcome. I still consider E G & G a fine growth issue in oceanography and in other areas, including nuclear instruments. However, the stock now sells at a very high earnings multiple and at current levels its growth potential seems amply discounted. With the cushion you have, I would be inclined to hold but would make no new purchases at this time.

Profit-Taking Cuts Stocks At Closing

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today in the first of a full week of shortened sessions.

The session was another in which trading hours were cut to four from 5½ housr in an effort to allow brokerage houses to dig out from under a mound of paper work.

The market was lower at the opening and closed with stocks not far above the day's lows. Losers outnumbered gainers by more than 2-to-1.

Of those issues which did advance, most scored only moderate gains.

Cash Car Sales

CHICAGO (UPI)—About 48 per cent of the new and used cars sold in the United States each year are paid for with cash according to the World Book Encyclopedia. The remainder are bought on credit that totals more than $28 million a year.

THE PAPER BLIZZARD

Forecasting Difficulty Played A Role In Wall Street Woes

(Second in a series)

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Errors in forecasting, the very skill that brokers sell, explains why the stock market community was surprised by the paper storm that has forced the nation's exchanges to close early.

Very few brokers foresaw the tremendous volume that has buried them, even though the conditions were brewing for months and years and are even the result of their own promotional efforts.

GROWTH SPURTS

It took from 1792, when the New York Stock Exchange was established, until 1929 to get one billion shares listed on the Big Board. Now the number is 11 billion, and the rate of growth indicates 30 billion shares by 1975.

Moreover, most of this increase has developed in the past decade. And with it has come two relates developments that have caused an accumulation of paperwork not seen since the Great Crash in 1929:

1. An enormous growth in the number of persons owning stock, from 6 million in 1952 to more than 22 million today.

2. A new, swinging attitude on the part of some institutions—trade in and out quickly, rather than invest for the long term.

Why didn't Wall Street and the nation's other stock market streets foresee these events and make plans to handle the resulting volume?

BOARD CONSERVATIVES

For one thing, it is said reliably that New York Stock Exchange projections are conservative. It is one thing for the exchange to forecast volume of 10 or 11 million shares. It is another thing to produce it.

The reasoning of some investment men is that the Big Board would rather underestimate and have members complain about the abundance of profitable business than overestimate and have member firms geared up, at great cost, for business that doesn't come.

Nevertheless, even though it is obvious to most people now that the forecasts underestimated volume, many firms have been slow to acknowledge it. They have good reason. Expansion is costly. It is even speculative.

In some businesses you can stage an advertising campaign and generate a specific amount of business, perhaps at the hours when you are not otherwise busy. In stocks you cannot plan that effectively.

'AT MERCY'

"We're at the mercy of the whole world," said one Wall Street executive. "Almost everything that happens in the world affects us—wars, budgets, emotions—and we haven't a thing to say about it."

And so, as sometimes happens with the stocks they trade in, brokers now are reacting rather than anticipating the event. This is what is being done:

1. Recognizing that this bonanza of big volume is not just a squall but a well developed storm, some firms are making permanent enlargements of staff, equipment and space.

2. Workers are being recruited from pools of unemployed housewives and retired stenographers.

3. Workers are being upgraded to handle more responsible jobs.

4. More work is being automated.

But the final solution of paperwork problems is the first course mentioned, to build in new capacity, a course that most are reluctant to pursue until they have every assurance that the heavy volume will continue.

"Expansion is very expensive," said one brokerage house partner. "We need to be careful in hiring because we don't believe in dumping people when the market slows; it's bad long-term business. We're pressed for help but we still have to remain selective."

It isn't difficult to find evidence that expansion is costly. Brokerage house clerical jobs have always had a big, costly turnover rate. One house, for instance, set out to hire 150 new workers, but because of turnover during the training period had to hire 300.

ONLY ANSWER?

Nevertheless, added capacity seems to be the answer. Shorter hours, temporary help, even a four-day week are admissions of failure by a business that did its best to promote and encourage big volume.

Commenting on the inadequacy of shorter hours, one broker declared: "The hours are not too long as it is. I think the country has the right to expect liquidity in transferring stocks. Shorter hours aren't the answer. Greater capacity is."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Advertising Agency Transfers Headquarters To San Rafael

Newly relocated in San Rafael from 9 Sutter Street, San Francisco is Frank Paul Newton Advertising, with offices now at 1703 Fifth Avenue.

Agency owner Frank Newton, a resident of Kent Woodlands, has had his offices in San Francisco for the past 20 years. Coincidently with the move he has also announced his retirement as secretary-treasurer of Associated Independent Dairies of America — an organization he formed in 1954 with three of his agency's dairy clients and which has since grown to 27 members throughout California and Nevada. Though retiring from most of the association's activity he will serve as a consultant for the next five years.

FURTHER INFORMATION on Wells Fargo Bank's proposed new office in Novato has now been furnished by branch manager Richard H. Malloch.

Construction on the new building at Grant Avenue and Fifth Street is expected to begin this fall. The new location gives the bank 20,000 square feet of land. On it will be constructed a free-standing, one-story building with mezzanine and 5,000 square feet of floor space, exterior walk-up teller window, safe deposit accommodations and a night depository. There will be enough outside space left over for a 30-car parking area.

Wright Leal

SAMUEL WRIGHT JR., vice president of Fox and Carskadon, who has managed this real estate firm's operations in Marin ever since it first came here in 1963 to handle the Peacock Gap development, is returning with his family to Atherton and will be located in the company's main office on the peninsula.

G. Paul Leal of Terra Linda has been appointed his successor and will manage the company's two offices in San Rafael and Tiburon. A nine-year veteran of the real estate business in Marin, he has been with Fox and Carskadon since 1964. He has served as manager at both the former Peacock Gap office and in downtown San Rafael.

D. ZELINSKY AND SONS, San Francisco, of which Tiburon developer Fred G. Zelinsky is senior vice president, has opened its new offices at 975 Bryant Street, consolidating executive and production departments in one location. This is only the third move since the painting contracting firm was established in 1884. Previous offices were at 165 Grove Street.

OAKLEY W. DEXTER of Dexter's TV in Larkspur has been attending the annual convention of electronic technicians and service dealers in Des Moines, Iowa for the past four days.
